LINCOLNSHIRE, IL - September 17, 2025 -
Ravinia Plumbing, Sewer, Heating & Electric, a leading provider of home comfort solutions throughout Chicago?s North Shore, is pleased to announce it is now offering professional air conditioning tune up. This seasonal service is designed to help homeowners prepare for the summer months by optimizing their air conditioning systems for maximum performance, efficiency, and reliability.

With summer temperatures on the rise and demand for cooling at an all-time high, Ravinia Plumbing is providing preventive maintenance to avoid system failures during peak heat. For residents of Highland Park?a community known for its beautiful homes, tree-lined streets, and commitment to quality living?reliable air conditioning is essential for seasonal comfort and safety.

?An air conditioning tune-up isn?t just about preventing breakdowns,? said David Ariano, President of Ravinia Plumbing, Sewer, Heating & Electric. ?It?s about ensuring your system runs efficiently, saving you money on energy bills, extending the life of your equipment, and keeping your home cool and comfortable when you need it most.?

Ravinia?s air conditioner tune-up service includes a comprehensive inspection and performance evaluation. Technicians clean condenser and evaporator coils, replace or clean air filters, check refrigerant pressure, test safety controls, inspect ductwork, tighten electrical connections, and calibrate the thermostat to ensure the system responds accurately.

?Our tune-ups are thorough,? Ariano explained. ?We don?t cut corners. Our goal is to leave your system running better than we found it and to provide peace of mind as the temperatures begin to rise.?

The homes in Highland Park are diverse, ranging from historic properties to modern constructions, each with unique HVAC system needs. Ravinia Plumbing?s experienced technicians are trained to work on all makes and models, including central AC systems, heat pumps, and ductless mini splits. They take the time to assess each system?s condition and tailor maintenance services accordingly.

?Highland Park residents take pride in their homes,? Ariano said. ?We?re committed to offering them the same level of care and attention to detail that they put into maintaining their properties.? In addition to single-family residences, Ravinia also services multi-family units and smaller commercial properties.

?Small changes can lead to big savings,? Ariano noted. ?Our team works with each client to identify opportunities for improving system performance and reducing their monthly energy costs.? In many cases, technicians are able to address worn parts, blocked drains, or low refrigerant levels on the spot, helping homeowners avoid the discomfort and disruption of a complete system shutdown during a heatwave.

Highland Park residents are encouraged to schedule their air conditioner tune-up before the peak summer rush. Ravinia Plumbing, Sewer, Heating & Electric offers convenient appointment times, prompt service, and friendly, knowledgeable technicians who treat every home with respect.
