New York, NY ? Survivors of Abuse NY is proud to announce the launch of its new support group services designed to help survivors of sexual abuse find community, healing, and empowerment. This initiative reflects the firm?s deep commitment to not only providing legal advocacy but also ensuring survivors have access to emotional and psychological support throughout their journey to justice. For many survivors, the road to healing extends far beyond the courtroom. Recognizing the importance of a holistic approach to recovery, Survivors of Abuse NY has established these confidential support groups, which will serve as a safe space for individuals to share their experiences, process trauma, and receive encouragement from others who have faced similar challenges. The goal is to foster resilience, empowerment, and a sense of belonging for survivors.

Thomas Giuffra, Esq. - The Abuse Lawyer NY, expressed his firm belief that survivors deserve more than just legal representation?they deserve a support system that helps them heal and move forward with strength. ?Our mission is to stand with survivors every step of the way. By launching these support group services, Survivors of Abuse NY aims to offer a compassionate resource where survivors can connect with one another in a confidential, supportive environment. The groups will meet on a regular basis, with both in-person and virtual options available to accommodate survivors across New York. Survivors of Abuse NY understands that accessibility is key to creating a supportive network, which is why the firm is committed to offering flexible options that suit the needs of each individual participant. The support group services will provide a confidential and judgment-free environment where survivors can express their feelings, gain insight into coping strategies, and build resilience.
