Premium pet food manufacturer WyldLife Pets today announces the launch of its Amazon store, making it even easier for pet lovers to access their canine companions' favorite natural treats.

Developed with all-natural ingredients, WyldLife Pets' line of gourmet dog treats are free from additives, hormones, chemicals and other artificial ingredients, providing maximum enjoyment for pets and complete peace of mind for pet owners.

The launch of WyldLife Pets' Amazon store means dog lovers needn't spend hours researching natural treats and where to find them, nor will they need to drive distances in search of healthy pet foods. The process can now be completed in a couple of clicks, so pets can enjoy their favorite healthy snack at the touch of a button, delivered direct to their door.

Announcing the launch of the Amazon store, company founder Matt Baugh said: "I'm excited to take WyldLife's range of gourmet pet treats to Amazon, where they'll be easily accessible by pet lovers. Animal owners are increasingly interested in what's going into their pet's diet - our natural treats are healthy, high-protein alternatives to shop-bought treats that often contain artificial ingredients.?

WyldLife Pets is pleased to introduce its primary product to the webstore: a combo pack of bully sticks and beef tendons, made from the finest-quality, grass-fed Angus beef. The combo pack of eight bully sticks and seven tendons comprises complimentary products with added health benefits that dogs love for their natural smell and flavor.

Matt continued: ?With our combo packs, we decided to give dogs and their owners the best of both worlds: the bully sticks have the enticingly distinctive natural aroma of treats that dogs can?t wait to get their teeth into, while the odorless tendons help floss teeth, reducing plaque and tartar. More and more pet owners are shunning artificial dog treats but aren?t aware that even natural rawhide is indigestible by dogs; our bully sticks and beef tendons are easily digestible, high-protein snacks that help dogs maintain good dental health.?

Pet lover Matt established WyldLife Pets in 2015 after a long history of working with animals in shelters and through rescue operations. Years of experience with animals, in particular dogs, meant Matt encountered animals with all sorts of emotional and physical issues, from separation anxiety to joint problems.

Dog treats like bully sticks can be used to successfully calm dogs and provide useful distractions but Matt was concerned that not all the treats contained natural goodness. As a result, Matt was inspired to create WyldLife Pets? natural product line as a healthy alternative to the artificial chews available, filling a gap in the market for premium treats with added natural health benefits.

Tried and tested by happy dogs throughout the USA, WyldLife Pets? chews have proved to be excellent boredom beaters, providing hours of endless fun for pet pooches and peace of mind for their owners. Even more, all orders come with a 100% satisfaction guarantee, and WyldLife Pets is committed to providing exceptional service and will refund the purchase price of any order that doesn?t go down a treat.
