Super affiliate duo Bren & Mike have announced that they now recommend Influx Entrepreneur, which has started on a huge marketing push. Their goal is to dominate the market place in being both an online marketing platform of choice, as well as a blogging network. Having tried many different platforms, Bren & Mike believe that Influx Entrepeneur is one of the best.

Mike Marko himself says: "Anyone who knows us knows that we are always looking for the best. We leave unturned in our quest either. This is why we have tested over fifty different marketing and blogging platforms and we can now safely say that Influx Entrepreneur is the best one in terms of search engine results rankings."

One of the things that make Influx Entrepreneur so interesting is that it is highly affordable compared to other similar packages. While being more affordable than most others, they do have a lot of features included that others don't. Additionally, their hosting is faster than with most other platforms.

Bren & Mike have used Influx Entrepreneur for two years and continue to say that, for what it is, it is significantly underpriced. This was made clear in their Influx Entrepreneur review. They also fear that the company will soon come to the same conclusion and put their prices up. This is why they recommend people to sign up for it now, while it is still so affordable.

"When we first came across Influx Entrepreneur some two years ago, we thought it was too good to be true," says Bren. "Two years later, we still think this and continue to wonder what the catch is. There genuinely doesn't seem to be a catch, however, and all we can think of is that they will surely put their prices up. Make sure you sign up for it now, therefore, because you would be missing out."

One of the more popular features of this marketing platform is the Influx Entrepreneur webinar system. Bren & Mike are encouraging all their followers to sign up just so that they can use this feature to build their presence online. They report that they have used the webinar feature with great success.

Bren & Mike recommend the Influx Entrepreneur marketing platform for both online marketers and traditional businesses. Mike Marko has recently annouced that Bren & Mike have additional packages to help business owners take even better advantage of the Influx Entrepreneur marketing platform.
