Auckland, New Zealand - SuperiorMaker a top retailer on Amazon.com has re-introduced their own door stops. It has been redesigned to be more savvy and convenient in opening or shutting of doors, SuperiorMaker aims to give its customer better experience by keeping doors open allowing free movement of doors and free flow of fresh air between rooms. Doorstops also securely hold doors open which permits free movement of kids and free access for others when their hands are full. But SuperiorMaker not only aims to cater to households, and extending its market to work spaces as well. Keeping office entryways open advances office cohesiveness and permits greater productivity. Managing these entryways with door stops makes moving around and carrying out tasks accessible. According to an article on the Domain website, door stops are practical as ever. Door stops acts as that silent helper that stops a door from constantly slamming ? and are a must if the household have small kids or a hyperactive dog. With a door stop there is no longer the worry about waking the neighbours if ever an errant breeze passes through the house. The author Kathleen Lee-Joe said, ?the door stop should be heavy enough to hold the door but light and portable enough to move from place to place. And bonus points if it doesn?t kill you if ever you stub your toe against it.? According to a representative from SuperiorMaker, ?our doors stops have been ideally measured to fit the standard home and office doors. Its wedge-molded outline allows the profile tip to be pushed under the doorway to prevent it from pummelling close as it experiences the raised form of the door stop. They are made of a state of the art, tough and durable grade rubber. Our door stops are shown to work on all surfaces, including carpet, wood, tile and concrete.? Elizabeth Gerhardt a verified Amazon customer said in a 5-star review, these door stops from SuperiorMaker work just fine. Local winds don?t slam the front door anymore.? The rubber door stops from SuperiorMaker are accessible on Amazon at a marked down cost. It is available in a convenient 4-pack so they can be utilized on a few doors. Each purchase is backed fully by a 100 percent money back guarantee. ###
