

Wes York Revolutionises Sales Industry With New Training Platform

February 10, 2016

February 10, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Wes York, Founder and CEO of Sales Coaching International in Brisbane, Australia, has developed the most advanced online sales training platform that is designed to revolutionize any business. The online training platform is designed to enable any business to take their revenue and sales up to the next level. The sales system has been adopted by companies in over five countries within weeks of going live and is now considered a must have for any business, whether large or small. It focuses on the use of advanced selling techniques, avoiding selling mistakes, overcoming objections, boosting profits, and raising the average transaction size.

Wes York himself says: "I offer the most complete training program available on the market today. Selling is everywhere, from the job interview, to dating, to closing a multi-million dollar sale. If you don't know the fundamentals of selling, you won't be successful."

Wes York is well-known in the world of sales. He has traveled the world, mentoring and inspiring others to become the best they can be. He is known for his infectious personality and this enables him to entertain the audience, while imparting vital knowledge that will help them achieve success. He is known for three systems in particular. These are the 8 Steps to Your Sales Success, The Secrets of Selling, and Generating Unlimited Profits. Put together, these have been designed to enable anyone to sell practically anything.

As part of the new online training platform, York has launched the Elite Sales Club. This club enables people to further enhance their sales efforts. It teaches them how to sell themselves and how to sell in business, essentially enabling them to invest in their own prosperity. Various pieces of training are included for free for the members of this club. Those who have used it have said that it is this amazing club that really sets the new program apart and what makes it a must-have for all business owners.

Those who have joined the club have been very happy about the training they have received. Hayley says: "I started working for Wes as a receptionist and he helped me get into the management position I wanted. I was the youngest management professional in the company and I definitely would not have been able to achieve that without Wes' help. Wes gave me more than a professional motivational training. He helped me make it happen."

###

For more information about Sales Coaching International, contact the company here: Sales Coaching International
Wes York +61450929776 wes.york@salescoachinginternational.com
Level 8757 Ann Street Fortitude Valley Australia 4006

Sales Coaching International

Sales Coaching International is one of the most advanced Sales Coaching Companies in the marketplace. we take any business from where they are to the next level.

Website: <http://www.salescoachinginternational.com>

Email: wes.york@salescoachinginternational.com

Phone: +61450929776

Powered by PressAdvantage.com