June 19, 2025

RALEIGH, NC - June 19, 2025 -
Apex Orthopaedic Spine & Neurology, also known as Apex OSN, has just released a comprehensive guide to help people recover from car accidents. This resource is designed to help individuals manage the crucial steps in the aftermath of an auto accident. It offers important advice on what actions to take, such as seeking immediate medical attention and keeping detailed records of the incident.

Apex OSN is well-known for its personalized care in treating car accident injuries. They offer a variety of services, including orthopedic surgery, chiropractic care, pain management, neurology, physical therapy, and medical injections. Their approach focuses on both visible injuries and those that might not be immediately apparent, aiming to prevent long-term problems.

Dr. Erik Bendiks from Apex OSN emphasizes the importance of immediate medical evaluation after an accident, even if injuries seem minor. "Our guide for accident recovery highlights the critical need for early treatment to achieve the best outcomes," he said. "We believe the information in the guide can help patients avoid complications over time."

The new guide discusses common car accident injuries like neck and back pain, whiplash, head injuries, and broken bones. It points out how these injuries might become chronic if not addressed quickly. By offering this guide, Apex OSN hopes to educate the public on the importance of professional medical assessment and care.

In addition to the guide, Apex OSN provides a wide range of medical treatments. These include chiropractic care to alleviate pain and improve mobility for those with musculoskeletal issues. They also offer medical injections to effectively manage pain and reduce inflammation. The clinic is equipped with advanced diagnostic tools like MRI and X-ray services to help accurately assess injuries.

"At Apex OSN, our accident recovery team is dedicated to helping every patient through their recovery with skill and compassion," Dr. Bendiks added. "We offer comprehensive treatment options that not only address current injuries but also consider each patient's future health and well-being."

The accident recovery team at Apex OSN works closely with patients to develop personalized treatment plans. This ensures that each individual's journey to recovery is suited to their specific health needs, from the initial injury to full rehabilitation. Details about these services and more can be explored on their comprehensive site.
