

Elevated Tee Times: How Tamarack Resort Redefines Golf in the Idaho Rockies

June 13, 2025

June 13, 2025 -
Tamarack, Idaho ? With summer tee times opening across the country, the search for the most breathtaking, high-performance golf destinations is heating up. While legendary names like Pebble Beach in California, Bandon Dunes in Oregon, and Streamsong Resort in Florida continue to capture attention, one rising star is emerging from the rugged landscape of the Idaho Rockies: Tamarack Resort. Recently featured by Best Golf Resorts US in its 2025 ?Elevated Escapes? editorial series, Tamarack is redefining the mountain golf experience with a blend of natural grandeur, top-tier course design, and a welcoming atmosphere for players of all levels.

At the forefront of this endorsement is Rhoda Bennett, world traveler and respected voice in alpine sports, who now brings her expertise to golf travel. ?Places like Bandon and Pebble have earned their reputations, no question,? Bennett says. ?But Tamarack brings something distinctly refreshing, it's intimate, immersive, and surprisingly accessible. It?s where the scenery meets serenity, and the game feels revitalized.?

Known for its year-round recreation offerings, Tamarack has steadily invested in positioning its golf course as a premier summer attraction. The 18-hole championship course showcases the natural beauty of the region, winding through alpine meadows, lakeside vistas, and mountain ridgelines. Elevation changes create thrilling challenges, while each hole is designed to harmonize with the land rather than overpower it. The result is a course that feels both intentional and organic, offering a playing experience as memorable as the views.

?It?s golf without the pretense,? Bennett adds. ?You?ve got the sophistication of places like Whistling Straits or Kiawah Island, but without the crowds or the waiting list. Tamarack feels like your own personal golf sanctuary in the mountains.?

While high-profile resorts like Pinehurst and Sea Island continue to cater to elite travelers, Tamarack?s distinction lies in its balanced identity. It is luxurious without being exclusionary, refined yet rooted in community. The resort offers a full range of services including private instruction, equipment rentals, and beginner-friendly programs, alongside luxury lodging, spa access, and locally curated dining.

Tamarack?s inclusion in the 2025 Best Golf Resorts US guide places it in elite company, but also distinguishes it for its ethos. Unlike coastal resorts where exclusivity often dominates, Tamarack is built for inclusion, offering tee times for solo travelers, couples, and families alike. Women?s clinics, junior programs, and twilight golf social events expand the traditional demographic and invite new players into the sport.

?Golf needs more places like Tamarack,? says a Best Golf Resorts US editor. ?It?s not just about shot shaping and course length, it?s about where you are, who you?re with, and how it all feels. Tamarack invites you to play and stay without barriers.?

Part of Tamarack?s appeal is also logistical: located just two hours from Boise, the resort offers mountain seclusion without sacrificing accessibility. Travelers from across the Pacific Northwest and Mountain West are discovering it as a more intimate alternative to crowded mega-resorts. And unlike seasonal destinations like The Greenbrier or The Broadmoor, Tamarack?s four-season setup means that golfers can pair a round with hiking, mountain biking, paddleboarding, or a post-game massage, all within walking distance of their lodging.

Bennett, who has logged rounds in Arizona?s desert terrain and the rolling hills of North Carolina, says Tamarack adds a fresh chapter to American golf travel. ?It?s not trying to copy what?s been done,? she explains. ?It?s carving its own identity, just like the landscape itself.?

The visual drama of Tamarack?s setting is another key differentiator. Fairways dip and rise against alpine panoramas. Wildlife sightings are common. And in early summer, wildflowers line several holes, adding both beauty and a touch of Idaho wilderness to each round.

The clubhouse further enhances the experience with panoramic terraces, locally-sourced menus, and a pro shop that offers both performance and resort apparel. Special events, such as the resort?s ?Nine & Dine? summer series or the annual Mountain Open Scramble, attract both residents and destination travelers. Tamarack also offers bundled stay-and-play packages that are gaining popularity with those looking to escape the high prices of Scottsdale or Monterey.

?Tamarack doesn?t ask you to be a certain kind of golfer,? Bennett notes. ?It just asks you to enjoy the game in a beautiful place. That?s the kind of energy more courses need.?

While Best Golf Resorts US continues to recognize top-tier names like Shadow Creek, The Ocean Course, and Sand Valley, the platform?s 2025 outlook puts emphasis on new standards in experience and accessibility. Tamarack, with its inviting tone and breathtaking terrain, stands as a model for what next-generation golf resorts can offer.

For travelers seeking a golf destination that?s scenic, soul-soothing, and seriously well-designed, Tamarack Resort is setting the bar high, literally and figuratively.
