Küssnacht am Rigi, SZ - June 23, 2025 -
Rigert Treppenlifte AG, a well-established Swiss company dedicated to providing mobility solutions, is making significant progress in improving accessibility for seniors and those with mobility challenges. With more than 60 years of experience under its belt, the company remains focused on its mission to support independence through reliable and innovative stairlift installations.

Recently, Rigert Treppenlifte completed numerous projects across Switzerland's German, French, and Italian-speaking regions. These projects demonstrate the company's ability to create tailored solutions that fit the unique needs of its clients, ultimately boosting accessibility and enhancing the quality of life for users. Each installation reflects the company's commitment to quality craftsmanship, ensuring safety and smooth operation for those who rely on their products.

Many customers have shared stories of how Rigert Treppenlifte has positively impacted their lives. For example, one senior client in the Geneva area expressed her gratitude for the stairlift, which allows her to safely remain in her multi-story home. Such testimonials highlight the company's role in enabling easy and worry-free movement within homes.

Continuing to innovate, Rigert Treppenlifte is developing advanced features for their products to meet changing customer needs. By incorporating the latest technology, the company ensures that users enjoy modern, functional solutions that significantly enhance their experience. This commitment to innovation solidifies the company's position as a leader in the mobility solutions industry.

Rigert Treppenlifte is also building stronger relationships with healthcare and senior living facilities. Through these partnerships, the company helps ensure that facilities provide residents with reliable and efficient mobility solutions, thereby supporting their independence and well-being. By offering essential accessibility options, Rigert Treppenlifte plays an integral role in helping these institutions deliver high-quality care.

The company also provides seasonal safety tips as part of its comprehensive approach to mobility solutions. As weather conditions change, Rigert Treppenlifte emphasizes the importance of keeping equipment in good condition and ensures stairlifts are used safely. They offer practical advice and guidance to help users maintain safe home environments year-round.

Additionally, Rigert Treppenlifte invests in community mobility initiatives that promote awareness and support for individuals with mobility impairments. By working with local organizations and engaging in community outreach programs, the company aims to highlight the value of accessible living spaces and inspire positive changes within communities.

Rigert Treppenlifte AG's unwavering focus on quality and innovation has made it a top name in mobility solutions across Switzerland. The company is dedicated to expanding its presence and building long-lasting relationships with partners who share its vision of better accessibility and independence for everyone.
