"We are thrilled to share the stories of Navajo land through our gallery," says Brenda Terris of Lionel Bigthumb Visuals. "This space is more than just a display of photographs; it's a glimpse into the world of the Navajo people and the beauty that we are privileged to call home."

Lionel Bigthumb?s journey into entrepreneurship began by helping grow the family business, Adventurous Antelope Canyon Tours, where his deep connection to the land and passion for storytelling through visuals first took root. What started as a role supporting the family?s tourism efforts evolved into a larger vision. Over the past few years, Lionel and his team have expanded operations under The Adventurous Group (TheAdventurousGroup.com), branching out beyond Page, Arizona to include locations in Sedona, Monument Valley, and Southern Utah.

Lionel Bigthumb's works will also be featured at the Echo Cliffs Health Center in Tuba City, Arizona. This installation, opening in June 2026, focuses on the blend of art and Navajo tradition that defines Lionel's work.

As a Navajo entrepreneur, Lionel Bigthumb channels his love for the land through six travel companies, offering airplane and helicopter tours around the stunning landscapes of Sedona and Page. Visitors are encouraged to explore these areas and gain more understanding of the scenes featured in his art.

For those interested in owning a piece of this art, Lionel Bigthumb Visuals offers premium metal prints at the gallery.
