

Revolutionize Fundraising in Switzerland: Happy Pot GmbH Launches Online Platform

July 21, 2025

Zürich, ZH - July 21, 2025 -
Happy Pot GmbH has just introduced a new fundraising platform in Switzerland. This innovative tool is set to help schools, non-profits, and community groups raise money without needing to pay upfront costs. The goal is to make the fundraising process easier and more efficient for these organizations. The platform provides a seamless way for users to start a fundraising pot in just two minutes, ensuring a swift start to their fundraising efforts.

In today's tough economic environment, traditional fundraisers can be hard to pull off. This platform provides an alternative with no financial barriers for starting out. The lack of upfront fees means users can concentrate more on getting their community involved rather than worrying about finances.

Community engagement is a key part of this platform's purpose. It offers a simplified process for organizations that want to customize their fundraising efforts. This flexibility lets groups keep their individual styles while using larger fundraising strategies. The platform is accessible online, so it's easy to use for everyone involved.

Habiba Alami, Founder of Happy Pot GmbH, commented on this new tool: "Small NGOs often lack resources for expensive fundraising platforms. We're leveling the playing field for organizations that need it most."

One of the platform's highlights, beyond the no-cost entry, is the variety of tools it provides to help manage successful campaigns. Users can monitor their progress, understand donor habits, and update their strategies in real time. This sort of flexibility is crucial for making each campaign as effective as possible. Moreover, the platform has built-in communication features, making it easy to stay connected with supporters.

The platform also has an environmental advantage. It cuts down on the use of paper and the need for physical events, offering a more eco-friendly way to fundraise. This approach is becoming more valued in the fundraising community, which is moving towards sustainability. Secure payments and anonymous donations are facilitated through Happy Pot's partnership with Stripe, ensuring a safe and private giving experience for donors.

Habiba Alami shared the team's thoughts: "Events bring people together. Why not channel that energy toward causes that matter? We're making it effortless for organizers to add meaning to their gatherings."

Organizations looking to broaden their reach without the hassles of traditional fundraising methods may find this platform very useful. The initiative by Happy Pot GmbH is designed to not only provide financial support but also to strengthen community connections throughout Switzerland.

This platform is part of a larger plan to bring practical, impactful change to the fundraising world. The company is actively seeking ways to support community growth and sustainable development for non-profits.

"Beautiful design and powerful functionality shouldn't be mutually exclusive. We've built a platform that's as enjoyable to use as it is effective," said Habiba Alami.

As the platform begins to take hold in Switzerland, Happy Pot GmbH expects a transformation in fundraising approaches. By tackling financial and logistical hurdles, the company is committed to lifting the social work these groups do and bolstering community connections.

Happy Pot GmbH's new platform is poised to change not only how funds are raised but also how effective community fundraising can be in Switzerland. This initiative presents organizations with the chance to achieve greater independence and success, while also promoting community engagement and reducing environmental impact.
