

Go Industries Launches Durable Grille Guards for Commercial Trucks: New Medium-Duty Solutions for Enhanced Protection

July 08, 2025

Richardson, TX - July 08, 2025 -
Go Industries Inc., a key player in the truck accessories and custom manufacturing scene, has exciting news. They are expanding their product range to include new medium-duty grille guards. These guards are specially made for Chevrolet C4500, Chevy 6500, Ford F650, Ford F750, and International CV515 trucks. The idea is to boost the protection and usefulness of these trucks. Since 1978, Go Industries has been focused on delivering top-notch products that meet the various needs of its customers.

Adding these medium-duty grille guards showcases Go Industries' focus on quality and forward-thinking. The guards are easy to install with no need for cutting or drilling, making them user-friendly and convenient. Each grille guard is designed to tilt forward, so getting to the hood is simple. This launch caters to the growing demand for adaptable truck accessories that enhance both safety and functionality.

A representative of Go Industries said, "Our new medium-duty grille guards are built with durability and practicality in mind. We are thrilled to provide a product that meets the specific needs of our customers, making sure they have access to top-quality Ford grille guard options without the hassle of a tough installation." This new line of products highlights Go Industries' ongoing commitment to upholding high standards while meeting the changing needs of the market.

Go Industries has built a strong reputation in the truck accessory world by focusing on quality and great customer service. Their custom manufacturing services offer extra customization, allowing people to get products tailored to their specific needs. This personalized service has been a key part of their continuing success. More information about their custom manufacturing services can be found on the Go Industries website.

The representative mentioned, "We aim to make Chevy grille guard solutions that last and perform their best. By using sturdy materials and sticking to strict manufacturing guidelines, we make sure our products not only meet but go beyond what customers expect."

Beyond grille guards, Go Industries offers a fantastic range of protective gear. They also provide bumper replacements and tough headache racks, all made in the USA. Their law enforcement division supplies special vehicle accessories for Chevrolet, Dodge, and Ford models, showing their ability to serve different market sectors.

Looking forward, Go Industries is set on strengthening its spot in the industry by continuing to provide dependable truck accessories. By using the latest tech and trends, the company is ready to deliver advanced solutions for both traditional and modern trucking needs. Their dedication to excellent craftsmanship is clear in every product line, offering solutions that last for vehicles from regular pickups to special law enforcement units.

Interested parties can find the new medium-duty grille guards now through Go Industries' official outlets, accessible through their main website. Customers can also check out a wide variety of other truck accessories like winch systems and airflow tailgates. Product catalogs and detailed installation instructions are available online, offering thorough support to customers.

The company stays active on social media, where people can engage with updates and get the latest on new products. Additionally, warranty details and industry-related content can be easily accessed on their website, helping consumers make well-informed purchase decisions.
