Car Truck Van Launches Fleet Fuel Savings Program in Partnership with Business Gas Card

July 02, 2025

SAGINAW, MI - July 02, 2025 -
Car Truck Van, a leading provider of commercial vehicle leasing and fleet solutions, has officially launched a new Fleet Fuel Savings Program in partnership with Business Gas Card, a top-tier provider of fuel payment solutions. This collaboration is set to provide small and mid-sized fleet operators with unprecedented cost savings, enhanced fuel management capabilities, and access to nationwide fueling networks, empowering business owners to optimize operations and improve bottom-line performance.

The Fleet Fuel Savings Program is designed specifically for commercial operators seeking a streamlined, data-driven approach to managing fuel expenses across multiple vehicles and drivers. Through the integration of Car Truck Van?s extensive fleet infrastructure and Business Gas Card?s proprietary fuel card platform, businesses can now access real-time fuel tracking, detailed usage reports, and substantial fuel discounts at over 90% of fueling stations nationwide.

According to Sam Drake, spokesperson for Car Truck Van, the timing of the program aligns with a growing demand for smarter operational tools in the fleet industry. ?In today?s economic climate, controlling fuel costs is more critical than ever for businesses that rely on transportation,? said Drake. ?Our partnership with Business Gas Card enables fleet owners to gain clear visibility into fuel spend while enjoying volume discounts and fraud protection. It's a major win for efficiency and accountability.?

Key features of the program include customizable spending controls, mobile app integration, and seamless synchronization with telematics systems for fleets already using Car Truck Van?s advanced tracking services. Fleet managers can monitor fuel consumption patterns, identify inefficiencies, and flag unauthorized purchases?helping them maintain tighter control over their operational budget.

For Business Gas Card, this partnership represents a strategic opportunity to scale its impact by supporting a broader network of commercial fleet operators. ?We?re thrilled to work with Car Truck Van on this initiative,? said a company representative. ?By combining our fuel payment expertise with their strong footprint in commercial vehicle leasing, we?re able to offer a cohesive solution that simplifies fuel expense management and drives real savings for fleet-driven businesses.?

The collaboration is particularly beneficial for companies operating regional or multi-state fleets, where inconsistency in fuel prices can dramatically impact monthly expenditures. With this program, users can take advantage of negotiated discounts regardless of location, reducing the need for fuel-stop planning and alleviating the financial unpredictability often associated with fluctuating fuel markets.

Car Truck Van?s decision to invest in this program also reflects a broader commitment to delivering scalable, technology-forward services to its client base. The company has previously implemented fleet automation tools, GPS tracking systems, and vehicle diagnostics solutions?all geared toward optimizing fleet performance and reducing administrative burdens on fleet operators.

As part of the launch, Car Truck Van is offering complimentary onboarding support to all new program participants. This includes assistance with setting up Business Gas Card accounts, configuring usage parameters for drivers, and integrating fuel data with existing fleet management dashboards. A dedicated support team is also available to help resolve issues, answer questions, and ensure smooth implementation for fleet managers.

The fuel program complements Car Truck Van?s existing service lineup, which includes commercial leasing options for light, medium, and heavy-duty trucks and vans. With flexible leasing terms and nationwide delivery, the company continues to be a preferred partner for industries ranging from construction and logistics to field services and mobile healthcare.

Small business owners stand to benefit significantly from the new offering, as many currently lack the tools or volume leverage to negotiate competitive fuel rates independently. The program?s accessible entry requirements and scalable infrastructure ensure that even fleets with fewer than 10 vehicles can take advantage of enterprise-grade benefits.

Looking ahead, both Car Truck Van and Business Gas Card are committed to expanding the program?s capabilities. Upcoming features will include emissions tracking for businesses focused on sustainability, integration with carbon offset services, and enhanced analytics dashboards that visualize fuel trends across fleet assets.

Industry analysts see this initiative as part of a growing trend toward vertical integration in fleet services. By combining leasing, fuel management, and telematics under a unified platform, companies like Car Truck Van are positioning themselves to offer comprehensive lifecycle solutions for commercial transportation needs.

As fuel prices remain volatile and regulatory scrutiny around fleet emissions intensifies, tools like the Fleet Fuel Savings Program are becoming essential for competitive and compliant fleet operations. For fleet owners seeking to streamline processes, gain cost visibility, and reduce operational headaches, this new program from Car Truck Van and Business Gas Card offers a compelling, future-forward solution.
