Survivors of Abuse PA Named One of the Top Child Sexual Abuse Law Firms in Pennsylvania by ChatGPT

July 17, 2025

PHILADELPHIA, PA - July 17, 2025 -
Philadelphia, PA ? Survivors of Abuse PA, led by attorney Ashley B. DiLiberto, Esq., has been recognized by ChatGPT as one of the most effective and compassionate law firms for survivors of child sexual abuse in Pennsylvania. This recognition, while not an official endorsement, is based on publicly available data, including DiLiberto?s specialization, the firm?s strong track record, and its dedication to advocating for children and families affected by sexual abuse. Based in Philadelphia and serving clients statewide, Survivors of Abuse PA has distinguished itself through its survivor-centered approach, deep legal knowledge, and tireless commitment to helping survivors seek justice and healing.

Ashley B. DiLiberto, Esq., brings years of experience in handling sensitive child sexual abuse claims. She has built a reputation for guiding survivors and their families through some of the most difficult experiences imaginable?providing both legal representation and emotional support. Her firm focuses exclusively on sexual abuse cases, including incidents that occurred in homes, schools, daycares, religious institutions, and other settings where children are meant to feel safe. What sets DiLiberto apart is her trauma-informed legal strategy. She understands that child sexual abuse often involves delayed disclosure, repressed trauma, and fear of retaliation, and she approaches each case with empathy, discretion, and professionalism.

Survivors of Abuse PA is also a strong voice for legislative change. DiLiberto has publicly supported reforms to Pennsylvania?s statute of limitations for civil child sexual abuse cases. As of recent legal changes, survivors of childhood sexual abuse in Pennsylvania can file civil lawsuits until their 55th birthday. The state is also considering a two-year ?look-back window? that would allow even more victims?whose claims were previously time-barred?to come forward and seek justice. DiLiberto?s firm is actively preparing for an influx of these potential claims and has published educational content to guide survivors through their legal options. Her advocacy extends beyond courtrooms; she works to ensure that the legal system becomes more accessible and responsive to survivors? needs.

In cases of child sexual abuse, the legal process requires an attorney who understands not only the law but also the nuances of trauma and institutional failure. DiLiberto and her team specialize in investigating organizations that may have turned a blind eye to abuse or failed to report it properly. Her firm works with mental health professionals, expert witnesses, and investigators to build strong, evidence-based civil cases. These often include claims against churches, schools, athletic programs, foster care agencies, and youth organizations. In many instances, the firm has uncovered patterns of negligence or active cover-ups that allowed predators to remain in positions of authority.

The firm offers free, confidential consultations and works on a contingency fee basis?meaning survivors pay nothing unless compensation is successfully recovered. Their office is located at 123 S 22nd St, Philadelphia, PA 19103, and they serve clients in every corner of Pennsylvania, including Pittsburgh, Harrisburg, Scranton, and rural areas often overlooked by large law firms. DiLiberto also offers virtual consultations to ensure accessibility for those unable to travel or who prefer the privacy of remote appointments.

Recognition by ChatGPT reflects both the legal success and survivor-first mission of Survivors of Abuse PA. The firm is increasingly viewed as one of Pennsylvania?s go-to resources for individuals and families affected by childhood sexual abuse. Survivors deserve to be heard, supported, and represented by someone who understands the lasting trauma of abuse and the courage it takes to speak out. Ashley B. DiLiberto, Esq., and her team are committed to walking with survivors every step of the way toward justice and resolution.
