Front Range Pharmacy Reinforces Commitment to Medication Adherence with DayPacks Pre-Packaged Service

July 09, 2025

ENGLEWOOD, CO - July 09, 2025 -
Front Range Pharmacy, a trusted community pharmacy located in Englewood, Colorado, is proud to reaffirm its commitment to personalized patient care through its innovative DayPacks program. Designed to simplify medication management for patients of all ages and medical backgrounds, DayPacks provide a safe, convenient, and organized way to handle even the most complex prescription routines?all at no additional cost to patients.

DayPacks are individually pre-packaged medication packets that divide a patient?s daily prescriptions into clearly labeled doses for morning, noon, evening, and bedtime. Each packet is dated and timed to support accuracy and peace of mind, especially for those managing multiple medications or helping loved ones stay on track with their health.

?Our goal has always been to make life easier for our patients,? said Michael Scruggs, owner and pharmacist at Front Range Pharmacy. ?The DayPacks system takes the stress and confusion out of managing medications, so people can focus on living their lives?not worrying about whether they took their noon dose.?

The DayPacks program has become a vital resource for a wide variety of patients, from parents needing an organized way to send daily meds with their child to school, to caregivers managing prescriptions for aging family members at home. With its flexible month-to-month setup, DayPacks can accommodate changes in prescription schedules and dosing regimens seamlessly, making it a go-to option for anyone looking to streamline their medication routine.

Setting up a DayPacks plan is designed to be simple and supportive. Patients start with a packing list consultation, where the pharmacy team reviews what medications are taken and when. Supplements and over-the-counter vitamins can also be included, creating a one-stop solution that fits each individual?s needs.

Once enrolled, patients receive ongoing communication from the pharmacy to confirm prescription changes and refill needs. This ongoing support ensures that the medication regimen stays accurate and up to date. For medications that are taken ?as needed,? such as pain relievers or allergy treatments, the pharmacy offers blister packs or traditional bottles that align with a patient?s DayPack delivery schedule.

?The consistency of DayPacks has brought incredible peace of mind,? said one patient, Alexandria S. ?I used to worry constantly about remembering my meds or helping my family manage theirs. Now, it?s as easy as opening a packet?and I know I?m staying on track. Plus, every single person at Front Range makes me feel like I matter.?

The program has proven especially beneficial for patients managing long-term chronic conditions, recovering from surgery, or simply seeking a more reliable way to stick to their prescribed treatment plan. It?s also become a valuable tool for those planning international travel, where managing multiple medications can be logistically challenging.

At its core, the DayPacks program reflects Front Range Pharmacy?s mission to deliver community-based care with a personal touch. Every element of the program?from the thoughtful intake process to the reliable follow-up?has been designed with patient empowerment in mind.

?As healthcare continues to evolve, we?re focused on staying ahead of our patients? needs,? added Scruggs. ?Our DayPacks are a tangible way for us to offer both innovation and compassion, helping people live more independently without sacrificing safety or convenience.?

Front Range Pharmacy continues to serve patients throughout the Denver metro area and beyond, offering compounding, long-term care solutions, and traditional prescriptions alongside their DayPacks service. As they look to the future, their commitment remains clear: provide personalized pharmacy care that supports health, dignity, and quality of life.
