

Revolutionize the Ride: Go Industries Launches Innovative Truck Grille Guards with Winch Enhancement

July 17, 2025

Richardson, TX - July 17, 2025 -
Go Industries Inc. just announced the launch of their new Winch Grille Guards System, designed to enhance both protection and utility for truck owners. This addition to their line of truck accessories offers a sturdy front-end protection solution, packed with features for those who need more utility out of their trucks. Customers can choose from different variants, catering to various vehicle specifications, with prices ranging from $934.88 to $2,986.58.

The Winch Grille Guards System is built to be modular, which means it can fit various truck models like the Chevrolet C4500, Chevy 6500, Ford F750, F650, and International CV515. Made from durable 5/16" laser-cut steel uprights and 2.5" 16 gauge steel cross tubes, it's recognized as one of the best winch grille guards available. This robust design also includes custom heavy-duty mounting brackets that enhance strength without the need for cutting or drilling during installation.

One of the key features of the grille guards is their forward articulation, allowing easy access to the hood. This is particularly useful for larger trucks with a tilt body. Additionally, customers can personalize their grille guards based on the year, make, and model of their vehicle. They also have options for color and additional brush and winch guards.

The CEO of Go Industries emphasized their dedication to delivering quality products that satisfy their customers, stating, "Our Winch Grille Guards System represents our dedication to providing truck owners with reliable, durable products. We have focused on offering a product that not only meets but exceeds their expectations for protection and utility."

Go Industries is well-known for producing their products in the USA and offers a range of complementary products like heavy-duty headache racks and bumper replacements. These products are aimed at truck enthusiasts who value comprehensive vehicle protection and enhanced performance.

This new product line demonstrates Go Industries' commitment to innovation in truck accessories. Its appeal lies in its practicality and rugged design, making it attractive to both individual consumers and commercial users. Interested buyers can explore customization options and order through the Go Industries website, where they can access product instructions, warranty details, and an extensive catalog.

Customers interested in learning more about the broad spectrum of services, including truck accessories, law enforcement vehicle solutions, and custom manufacturing services, can visit the Go Industries website to explore their offerings in greater detail.

Adapting to modern payment preferences, Go Industries now accepts cryptocurrency, providing flexibility for tech-savvy customers. The company maintains a strong digital presence through social media on platforms like Twitter, Facebook, YouTube, Pinterest, and Instagram, where they engage directly with customers and share the latest information.

The Vice President of Operations at Go Industries shared excitement about the launch, saying, "Our team has worked tirelessly to develop a product that delivers in all aspects?strength, functionality, and ease of use. We are excited to see how our customers will benefit from the truck grille guards with winch support, which is genuinely designed with their needs in mind."

Beyond truck accessories, Go Industries also serves law enforcement agencies with specialized equipment for Chevrolet, Dodge, and Ford vehicles. They offer custom manufacturing services tailored to specific client needs, showing a commitment to their diverse customer base.

Since 1978, Go Industries has proven their expertise in fabricating high-quality products. The introduction of the Winch Grille Guards System is a continuation of their tradition of innovative and reliable vehicle enhancements. As they look to the future, Go Industries intends to keep pushing the limits in design and functionality within the industry.
