

Bren & Mike Update Kalatu Review

February 16, 2016

February 16, 2016 -
Popular super affiliate duo Bren & Mike have recently announced that they have updated their Kalatu review. After a full year of testing, they have indicated that Kalatu continues to impress them. They personally use the platform as part of their blogging network and they have had nothing but good experiences. One of the particular things they enjoy is that it ranks really well, most notably in the Bing search engine.

The duo's Mike Marko himself says: "There are just so many things to like about Kalatu. First of all, it works. At the end of the day, that is what matters for online marketers. In addition, there's so much more to it. New features and training are continually being added, for instance, so that marketers can improve their skills and their offerings all the time."

Kalatu is offered as part of the IPAS2 by Empower Network. Bren & Mike have been members of the Empower Network for some time, and provide significant training and resources about this to their own followers. They continue to recommend this system because it enhances the overall features and capabilities of the network itself.

In their updated Kalatu review, Bren & Mike highlight the various features that they are particularly impressed with. "Bren and I wished we had the Kalatu blogging system when we started. When they promised that it was WordPress made easy they weren't kidding. The success of Empower Network has always been it's blogging platform, and with this product the competition doesn't stand a chance, and neither does your competition once you start using it."

For Bren & Mike, creating a Kalatu blog is one of the easiest elements of being an online entrepreneur. While being easy, it is also the most important element of the entire enterprise. Having a blogging platform that works, therefore, is essential to any online business' success. Kalatu offers a number of different levels of subscription, each of which are supported by Bren & Mike, who look forward to helping more people figure out which level is right for them, and making sure they get the most out of their online efforts by working with Kalatu and the Empower Network. They encourage anyone to contact them for further information.
