Copyfast Printing Expands Same-Day Print Services in Scottsdale, Strengthening Support for Local Businesses

August 01, 2025

SCOTTSDALE, AZ - August 01, 2025 -
Copyfast Printing, a trusted name in the Scottsdale print industry for nearly four decades, has announced the expansion of its same-day printing services. This development comes as part of the company?s ongoing mission to meet the evolving needs of Arizona businesses, organizations, and individuals who rely on fast, reliable print solutions.

Since its founding in Scottsdale, Copyfast Printing has grown into the best full-service print shop offering a wide array of services?from digital printing and large-format banners to professionally finished brochures, business cards, and marketing materials. Known for its consistency, speed, and customer-first approach, the company has built a reputation for delivering both quality and efficiency across every order.

Tom Lafata, a representative of Copyfast Printing, shared insight into the expansion. ?We?ve always prioritized convenience and quality for our clients. The ability to deliver same-day turnaround on core products like business cards, flyers, and posters is another step forward in helping businesses move faster without sacrificing print standards.?

The newly expanded same-day printing service applies to many of the company?s most in-demand products. When submitted before the daily cutoff time, eligible orders can be printed, finished, and ready for pickup or delivery by the end of the same business day. This offering is powered by recent equipment upgrades and process optimizations, allowing the team to increase output speed while maintaining the high-resolution quality Copyfast is known for.

In addition to digital and offset printing, Copyfast offers a full range of finishing services, including folding, laminating, saddle-stitching, and custom cutting. These enhancements are also supported under the same-day service model for qualifying jobs, ensuring that last-minute projects still receive professional presentation.

Copyfast Printing?s Scottsdale location also serves nearby communities such as Tempe, Paradise Valley, and Old Town Scottsdale, which are frequent hubs for trade shows, conferences, and pop-up events. With this expansion, local businesses and event organizers can now rely on Copyfast for last-minute materials without compromising their branding or timelines.

Beyond production, the company also offers in-house graphic design services. Clients can consult with Copyfast?s design team to ensure artwork is optimized for print, which is particularly helpful for rush orders that require clean, press-ready files.

Another area of growth has been in direct mail services, where same-day printing can now be paired with timely neighborhood targeting for political mailers, promotional postcards, and retail campaigns. This turnkey solution allows clients to go from design to mailbox with minimal delays?streamlining the entire print and distribution process.

Looking ahead, Copyfast Printing plans to continue investing in new technology and staff development to support its growing customer base. The company?s leadership believes that speed and service must go hand-in-hand, especially in today?s fast-paced commercial landscape.

?Our goal has always been to offer printing that supports business momentum,? said Lafata. ?Whether it?s a startup getting materials ready for launch or a nonprofit preparing for an event, we want to be the print partner they can count on?even when time is tight.?

As Copyfast Printing celebrates 39 years in business, this service expansion marks another step in its long-standing commitment to Scottsdale and the surrounding communities. By combining modern equipment, local expertise, and a dedication to fast service, the company continues to position itself as a leader in Arizona?s commercial print space.
