Immerse in Sri Lankan Culture: Tamarind Gardens Homestay Unveils New 'Live Like a Local' Experience

August 07, 2025

Digana, Central Province - August 07, 2025 -
Tamarind Gardens Homestay is excited to share its new initiative that promises to make guests' visits even more enriching by providing deeper connections to local culture and farming practices. Nestled in the Central Province of Sri Lanka, this homestay offers a chance to experience genuine Sri Lankan living in the calming environment of Digana, surrounded by stunning views of the Victoria Reservoir.

The highlight of this initiative is the expanded "Live Like a Local" program. Here, guests can immerse themselves in a series of hands-on activities. Whether it's learning how to prepare traditional spice mixtures or folding betel leaves, visitors can engage in the daily routines that shape local life. This program aims to bring guests closer to the heart of Sri Lankan culture amidst the peaceful rural landscape.

Tamarind Gardens Homestay also has a working dairy farm, providing an opportunity for guests to observe ethical and sustainable farming practices. Visitors can watch how traditional cheese is made and even have a go at milking the cows. The farm-fresh dairy products, such as milk, cheese, and cream, are central to the meals served, connecting the farm experience seamlessly into daily dining.

Ayesha Perera, a representative of Tamarind Gardens Homestay, expressed enthusiasm for this project, stating, "We are thrilled to strengthen the bond between our guests and the Sri Lankan lifestyle. By expanding our cultural and farming experiences, we hope visitors leave with a deeper appreciation for the rich local traditions and practices."

Beyond these engaging activities, the homestay is committed to giving back to the local community. The Liya Diriya Women's Society, in partnership with the homestay, holds events like the Kadala Dansala, which serves food to over 400 people from nearby villages. This reflects Tamarind Gardens Homestay's dedication to social responsibility and the well-being of the surrounding area.

The homestay offers charming chalets designed for comfort and a connection to nature. Guests can start their mornings with the gentle sounds of nature, providing a refreshing break from daily life's fast pace. The meals, prepared with love and local flavors in mind, offer a delightful culinary journey that enhances the overall stay.

Tamarind Gardens Homestay also caters to the creative spirit of its guests with workshops in traditional Sri Lankan crafts. From creating local hand-made items to exploring bustling local markets, these activities are designed to leave guests with cherished memories.

Located near popular attractions like Kandy and Nuwara Eliya, Tamarind Gardens Homestay is a great base for exploring the rich cultural tapestry of Sri Lanka. Guests can enjoy the beautiful landscapes and historical sites in these celebrated regions.

"The commitment to providing an authentic Sri Lankan experience is at the core of Tamarind Gardens Homestay," Ayesha Perera added. "We constantly enhance our offerings to ensure each guest's stay with us is both educational and memorable."

For those interested in keeping up with the latest activities at Tamarind Gardens Homestay, they actively share updates on Instagram. Followers can check out their account, @tamarindgardensfarm, to glimpse the lively workshops or the stunning sunrise views.
