

Revolutionary Hedgehog System Debuts at 2025 SEMA Show to Transform Cosmetic Car Repairs

August 11, 2025

August 11, 2025 -

The new Hedgehog System, a solution for cosmetic damage, is making its first appearance at the 2025 SEMA Show in Las Vegas this November. This cutting-edge tool is designed for automotive professionals, including car dealers, reconditioning teams, and auto repair specialists, offering a way to quickly and effectively handle cosmetic issues.

The Hedgehog System streamlines repairs, allowing professionals to save time and boost productivity. It offers a simple way to manage scratches and scuffs without needing traditional paint jobs or extensive bodywork. This capability is critical because it helps maintain a vehicle's appearance and value, which is important for inventory management and retail readiness. The tool, called the "Hedgie," works with special cover kits, allowing for quick and easy improvements right on the spot.

According to Cynthia Johnson of Hedgehog Systems, "For the Hedgehog System to be featured at the SEMA Show is a tremendous opportunity for us to connect with industry leaders and innovators. This event is the perfect platform to demonstrate how our solution stands out in helping automotive professionals keep their inventory appealing and ready for sale."

The SEMA Show, an annual gathering for the automotive sector, highlights the latest tech and advancements in the market. It's the perfect venue for introducing the Hedgehog System, spotlighting its capability to transform cosmetic car repair practices. Attendees at the event can see firsthand how the system works and the advantages it offers for everyday tasks.

Hedgehog Systems aims to raise awareness at the SEMA Show about the convenience and effectiveness the system brings to touch-ups and cosmetic repairs. This aligns with the goal of many professionals to uphold high standards and quick service for their clients. Launching the Hedgehog System at this event signifies a move toward making such solutions a regular part of auto industry practices.

Cynthia Johnson shared, "Our debut at the SEMA Show underlines our commitment to the industry by providing practical tools for everyday challenges faced by auto professionals. We look forward to establishing new partnerships and demonstrating the unique advantages our system brings to the table."

The Hedgehog System isn't just about fixing cosmetic problems?it's been developed with ease of use in mind. Its applicator and cover kits are designed for user-friendliness, making it easy for even those with less experience in vehicle reconditioning to achieve professional results. This feature makes the system appealing to a wide range of automotive workers, from experienced repair specialists to those in dealerships where quick solutions are necessary.

Hedgehog Systems invites those attending the 2025 SEMA Show to visit their exhibit and get hands-on experience with the system. This is an opportunity for industry professionals to understand its capabilities and evaluate how it might benefit their work.
