

V1 Construction Expands Home Improvement Services Across Greater Portland, Elevating Residential Projects

August 20, 2025

August 20, 2025 -

V1 Construction is expanding its service reach to include areas in Greater Portland, while continuing to serve Vancouver, Washington. With more than 45 years of combined industry experience, the company aims to provide a wider range of high-quality construction and home improvement services. This expansion shows V1 Construction's commitment to meeting the needs of more homeowners, including offering V1 Construction home improvement services in Greater Portland.

V1 Construction offers a variety of services. Their roofing services include repair, replacement, and installation, using materials like asphalt, metal, and composite that are ideal for the area's climate. For more detailed information on their roofing solutions, including TPO/PVC and EPDM options, visit their website. For siding, they feature James Hardie® fiber cement products known for their durability and visual appeal. In addition, they offer energy-efficient window replacements using Milgard® Windows, which combine style and long-lasting quality.

Outdoor living spaces are increasingly popular, and V1 Construction in Vancouver addresses this trend with custom deck and patio designs that both function well and enhance the home's existing look. Their remodeling services cover everything from kitchen and bathroom updates to full-home renovations, effectively transforming indoor spaces. V1 Construction home improvement services in Greater Portland also manage new home construction projects from start to finish, applying their expertise to ensure quality results. Explore more about their deck and patio options on their website.

The company commented on its recent growth in reach, stating, "Expanding our service area allows us to bring our skilled craftsmanship and industry knowledge to more homeowners. Our goal is to enhance both the functionality and aesthetic quality of homes across Greater Portland and Vancouver." This move represents a key achievement for V1 Construction as it continues to play a major role in residential projects in these areas.

Meeting outdoor protection needs is also a focus for V1 Construction. They offer efficient gutter system solutions to manage water around homes, and their patio cover options help extend the usability of outdoor spaces by providing shelter from various weather conditions. For more information on their durable patio cover solutions, interested clients can learn more through their website.

V1 Construction in Vancouver, Washington is recognized for its reliable craftsmanship and in-depth industry knowledge. They are an authorized installer of James Hardie® Siding and Milgard Windows, and they offer the robust GAF Golden Pledge® Warranty for their roofing projects, highlighting their dedication to reliable and lasting solutions.

"As we expand into Greater Portland, we remain dedicated to maintaining clear communication, collaboration, and exceptional craftsmanship on every project," V1 Construction's management stated. "We view each project as an opportunity to exceed client expectations and to bring their vision to life."

Operating within a 50-mile radius, including Vancouver, Washington, V1 Construction is fully licensed and insured, offering clients peace of mind. They take pride in providing construction and home improvement services that clients can trust, especially through V1 Construction home improvement services in Greater Portland.

For more details about the variety of services offered by V1 Construction or to explore new project ideas, potential clients are encouraged to visit the company's website. This recent growth into Greater Portland underscores V1 Construction's ongoing commitment to delivering exceptional construction services to its expanding client base.

###

For more information about V1 Construction, contact the company here:V1 ConstructionV1 Construction425-749-1227sales@v1constructionllc.com

V1 Construction

Welcome to V1 Construction, your dedicated Vancouver WA construction company. We are dedicated to providing reliable solutions and exceptional craftsmanship for every project we undertake.

Website: https://v1-construction.com/

Email: sales@v1constructionllc.com

Phone: 425-749-1227