

Revolutionary Endosure Test Speeds Up Endometriosis Diagnosis with Unmatched Precision

August 25, 2025

Edmonton, AB - August 25, 2025 -
EndoDiagnosis Inc. is making big advancements in how we diagnose and manage endometriosis with their medical device, the ENDOSURE TESTING kit. As the Canadian Endosure Distributor, they are focused on speeding up the time it takes for women to get an accurate diagnosis. In Canada, the use of ENDOSURE has already been approved by health officials, and there's optimism that approval in the United States will happen soon. Traditional testing methods for endometriosis can take 8 to 10 years, but with ENDOSURE TESTING, results come in just 30 minutes.

What sets the ENDOSURE TEST apart is its non-invasive approach, quick turnaround, and high accuracy. It can identify all stages and types of endometriosis in less than an hour, making it accessible to a wide range of patients. By analyzing unusual patterns in the small bowel related to increased prostaglandin levels from endometriosis tissues, the test provides doctors with vital information to begin treatment sooner.

Diagnosing endometriosis typically takes years, but EndoDiagnosis is working hard to change that. By shortening the waiting period, they aim to ease the prolonged suffering women endure from painful symptoms and help prevent long-term health problems.

Beyond testing, EndoDiagnosis offers a wealth of patient resources. They provide podcasts and blogs that discuss various endometriosis-related topics and share recent research discoveries. Their website also offers valuable information and community support for those living with the condition. For healthcare professionals, there are resources on managing pregnancy complications related to endometriosis and on restorative reproductive medicine. More details on their services and resources can be accessed on the EndoDiagnosis website at endodiagnosis.com.

Niki B. shared her experience as a demonstration patient with the ENDOSURE TEST. She said, "I was fortunate to be a demo patient for the ENDOSURE TEST in Calgary, which confirmed my endometriosis. After a miscarriage earlier this year, I was determined to get answers about my reproductive health. It was painless, took about 40 minutes, and the results were available immediately. Knowing I have endometriosis is crucial for managing my health moving forward and working with the right team."

Another patient, Natalie H., talked about how ENDOSURE helped her with reproductive issues. She said, "I am extremely satisfied with my results from ENDOSURE. After experiencing multiple pregnancy losses and frustrations with my OBGYN, I decided to check for endometriosis. This technology had just arrived in Canada, and I was quickly diagnosed. Within nine months of the test, I was able to get surgery. The test is easy, painless, and accurate. I am grateful for this technology, which significantly reduced the time to diagnose and treat my condition."

The commitment of the EndoDiagnosis team to their mission is clear. They are on a tour across Canada, led by Carolyn Plican and Maria Porcellato, demonstrating the effectiveness of ENDOSURE to clinics and medical professionals. This effort underlines their dedication to improving women's reproductive health.

For those interested in the ENDOSURE TEST, EndoDiagnosis provides a clinic finder service to help patients locate nearby clinics. They also offer instructions on how to prepare for the procedure, ensuring that patients feel informed and comfortable throughout. Detailed information regarding the clinic finder service and preparation guidelines for the EndoSure test can be found via their company resources section online.

Run by a team of doctors and pharmacists, EndoDiagnosis Inc. is committed to advancing women's health through innovative diagnostics that are backed by science. Their efforts in reducing diagnosis times from what could be over 100 painful periods to just one efficient clinic visit are making a difference. This is crucial for managing symptoms and enhancing the quality of life for those living with endometriosis. Learn more
