RCFE Conference 2025 to Unite Residential Care Leaders in Anaheim for Education, Compliance, and Networking

August 12, 2025

Orange, California - August 12, 2025 -
The RCFE Conference 2025, the premier annual gathering for Residential Care Facility for the Elderly (RCFE) leaders, will take place August 22?23, 2025, at the iconic Disneyland Hotel in Anaheim, California.

Designed for assisted living professionals, administrators, and long-term care industry leaders, the two-day event offers an unmatched opportunity to receive the latest RCFE compliance updates, build high-value connections across the senior living sector, and learn how to grow an RCFE business.

Organized with the mission to elevate care standards and support operational excellence, the RCFE Conference brings together top experts, regulatory agencies, and service providers for a focused program of keynote presentations, interactive sessions, and networking events.

Comprehensive Event Overview - This year?s conference will offer a robust program combining RCFE administrator education, residential assisted living innovation, and facility management strategies tailored to California?s RCFE operators. Attendees will have access to 20+ breakout sessions, covering a range of critical topics from dementia care solutions to sales and marketing, labor law, and technology adoption in senior care.

In addition to live sessions, attendees will receive a promo code for 10 free CEUs through the National Professional Care Institute (NPACI), adding measurable professional value to the experience.

The conference is open to:

RCFE owners and administrators

Placement agencies
Assisted Living care professionals
Senior living consultants and vendors

Speaker Highlights & Key Themes - The RCFE Conference 2025 boasts a dynamic lineup of keynote speakers and industry experts, including:

Shawn Medlin - recognized leader in applying technology to enhance elder care operations.

Dr. John Geiss & Josh Allen, RN dementia care innovator, delivering strategies to improve resident quality of life.

Senior representatives from the California Department of Social Services (CDSS), providing direct regulatory updates.

Officials from the Orange County Fire Authority and the Federal Wage & Labor Bureau, sharing compliance and safety insights.

?Our speaker roster brings together the most respected voices in residential elder care,? said William Young, founder of the RCFE Association and the visionary behind the RCFE Conference. ?The RCFE Conference 2025 is more than an event ? it?s a catalyst for innovation, compliance, and connection in our industry.?

Benefits for Attendees - Participants can expect tangible takeaways designed to impact their facilities immediately:

Learn directly from regulators and industry leaders on compliance, staffing, and operations.

Network with peers during the evening cocktail reception and throughout the event.

Discover new solutions in the exhibitor hall to enhance resident care and operational efficiency.

Stay ahead of trends in senior living and residential care marketing.

Earn valuable CEUs to meet professional licensing requirements.

?Attendees will leave with practical tools and actionable insights they can apply immediately to improve operations and resident care,? said William Young.

Industry Importance - The RCFE industry event in California comes at a pivotal time for senior living providers. With rising expectations from residents and families, evolving regulatory standards, and staffing challenges, operators must stay informed and agile. The RCFE Conference offers a concentrated platform to:

Address changes in RCFE compliance updates for 2025.

Explore senior living regulatory education sessions led by experienced professionals.

Share best practices in residential assisted living innovation and RCFE facility management strategies.

By fostering collaboration and continuous learning, the conference supports the long-term growth and sustainability of California?s residential elder care sector.

Location & Networking Opportunities - Set against the vibrant backdrop of the Disneyland Hotel in Anaheim, attendees will enjoy not only world-class conference facilities but also access to the entertainment and dining of Downtown Disney. The venue?s central location makes it ideal for bringing together professionals from across the state and beyond.
