

Covered.

Carrington
mortgage services, llc

Transforming the Mortgage Experience:
The Strategic Partnership Between
Covered and Carrington

Covered Revolutionizes Insurance Access with Embedded Solutions

August 14, 2025

August 14, 2025 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Covered, a leader in digital insurance solutions, has rolled out new features aimed at making it easier for businesses to offer insurance directly on their websites. This announcement puts a spotlight on Covered embedded insurance, a system that simplifies how companies can present insurance choices to their customers without redirecting them away from their site. The latest updates are designed to improve user experience and allow seamless integration for partner businesses.

With Covered embedded insurance, businesses can easily introduce insurance options to their customers, providing them with choices right where they shop. This change is an important move towards making insurance more user-friendly for both businesses and consumers.

The CEO of Covered shared, "This progress in our platform shows how committed we are to making insurance simpler. By embedding it directly where people already shop and interact, we cut down on obstacles and enhance service access."

The improvements to Covered's platform involve more straightforward onboarding processes, better tools for businesses to customize their offerings, and improved customer support. These features help align what consumers need with the insurance products available, resulting in a more personalized user experience. For more about how businesses can use Covered embedded insurance, check out the Covered Insurance blog. This resource clears up common misunderstandings about embedded insurance and helps companies make better decisions about integrating these options.

As more companies look to provide personalized services, offering insurance as part of the customer journey becomes more valuable. This strategy allows businesses to strengthen their ties with customers by offering services that suit individual needs.

A Covered spokesperson noted, "We're here to help businesses connect with their customers in the most direct way possible. Integrating our insurance solutions lets partners provide their customers with the precise choices they need."

The updates to the Covered platform come in response to user feedback and industry trends. Businesses from different industries can now integrate insurance options more easily, enhancing the customer experience and making it more comprehensive.

Bringing insurance solutions into regular business processes reduces complexity for everyone involved. This shift shows how insurance is becoming a part of everyday transactions, making it more transparent and easier to access.

The ongoing improvements to the platform highlight Covered's commitment to leading the way in digital insurance innovations. By concentrating on practical solutions that address real needs, Covered is helping businesses that want to meet evolving customer expectations. For further details about the benefits and how businesses can make use of these new features, Covered's resources offer valuable insights. The link <https://blog.itscovered.com/posts/5-misconceptions-about-embedded-insurance> provides information on the advantages and workings of embedded insurance, debunking myths and showing how it can work with existing business models.

Covered keeps enhancing its platform, strengthening the connection between businesses and their customers by embedding effective and user-friendly insurance solutions. This progress highlights Covered's position as a leader in making insurance a more integrated part of digital life.

###

For more information about Covered, contact the company here: CoveredGreg
Kassardjiangkassardjian@itscovered.com

Covered

Covered Insurance is a digital insurance marketplace that helps lenders, servicers, and fintechs embed personalized insurance offers into their platforms.

Website: <https://itscovered.com>

Email: gkassardjian@itscovered.com

