Ashley B. DiLiberto, Esq, Launches Initiative to Combat Child Sexual Abuse

August 29, 2025

PHILADELPHIA, PA - August 29, 2025 -
Philadelphia, PA - Survivors of Abuse PA, a leading law firm dedicated to representing survivors of sexual abuse, is proud to announce the launch of a comprehensive initiative aimed at combating child sexual abuse across Pennsylvania. This initiative seeks to raise awareness, provide education, and offer robust legal support to survivors and their families, reinforcing the firm's commitment to justice and healing.

Child sexual abuse remains a widespread crisis, with thousands of children affected each year in Pennsylvania alone. Sexual abuse in childhood has devastating consequences, often resulting in long-term psychological trauma, trust issues, and difficulties in forming healthy relationships. Many survivors struggle for years before speaking out due to fear, shame, or intimidation by their abusers. Recognizing the urgent need for action, Survivors of Abuse PA has developed a multi-faceted approach to empower survivors, advocate for systemic changes, and hold perpetrators accountable.

The initiative consists of several key components, beginning with education aimed at equipping parents, educators, and community members with the knowledge to identify and prevent child sexual abuse. The aim is to provide crucial information related to warning signs, identifying grooming behaviors, and learning about available resources for survivors. By increasing awareness at the community level, the firm aims to create a safer environment for children and reduce instances of abuse.

Survivors of Abuse PA is also offering expanded legal support services for survivors of child sexual abuse. The firm is providing free consultations to survivors and their families, ensuring that legal barriers do not prevent individuals from seeking justice. The firm?s legal team is trained in trauma-informed practices, prioritizing the well-being of survivors throughout the legal process. Many survivors of child sexual abuse are unaware of their rights or hesitant to come forward due to fears of retaliation or disbelief. By offering a compassionate and supportive legal team, Survivors of Abuse PA is working to change that narrative.

Advocacy for legislative change is another critical pillar of the initiative. The firm works with Pennsylvania lawmakers to push for stronger legal protections for survivors. While Pennsylvania has made progress in extending the time survivors have to file lawsuits, many advocates argue that more needs to be done. Research shows that survivors of childhood sexual abuse often do not disclose their trauma until decades later. Current laws still limit access to justice for many individuals who have been harmed by abusers shielded by institutional protections. Survivors of Abuse PA is committed to ensuring that these laws reflect the reality of trauma and delayed disclosure.

Healing from childhood sexual abuse requires more than just legal recourse; it demands access to counseling, peer support groups, and rehabilitation programs. Survivors of Abuse PA is dedicated to ensuring that those affected receive the emotional and psychological care they need to move forward in their healing journey.

Ashley DiLiberto, founder of Survivors of Abuse PA, emphasizes the importance of collective action in the fight against child sexual abuse. ?Every child deserves to grow up in a safe and nurturing environment, free from the fear of sexual exploitation. Unfortunately, too many children in Pennsylvania are still suffering in silence. Through this initiative, we hope to not only seek justice for survivors but also prevent future instances of abuse through education, advocacy, and comprehensive legal support. Our firm stands with survivors, and we are committed to fighting for them every step of the way.?

Survivors of Abuse PA encourages survivors, parents, educators, and concerned citizens to take part in this initiative. Those interested in learning more about child sexual abuse prevention, understanding their legal rights, or seeking legal representation can visit the firm?s website or contact their office for a free consultation.
