Bren & Mike, who are both SEO and online marketing experts, are proud to announce that they have completed and posted a review of Spin Distribute. This is one of their primary SEO tools as they help business owners and entrepreneurs boost their marketing efforts using the power of the Internet. In the review, they discuss how to effectively use this tool and see results.

Mike Marko himself says: "Spin Distribute is a web-based tool that takes articles and distributes them to 800 highly relevant sources so that you can get more diverse, quality backlinks to content you are trying to rank. It has services that include the distribution of the articles and a service where everything is put on autopilot. The articles are all written and distributed for you."

In the Spin Distribute review, which was written by Mike Marko, the system itself is fully explained. He highlights the fact that this system focuses specifically on creating back links, which are vital to rank highly on Google. He also explains that this program is particularly good for harder to rank sites.

The duo now also offers a free consultation to those who are able to qualify. This consultation includes a free session during which a plan will be designed to help them market online. They have started offering this plan in part because they love to help people achieve success. In addition, it is one of the methods they use themselves in order to attract new clients. By providing assistance to people up front, they are able to find their own perfect clients as well, resulting in a win-win situation.

"The internet, in our eyes, is like a community," says Bren. "Everybody works together in order to get higher rankings. We implement this philosophy from the start as well. We offer our clients consultations on how to rank higher and, in so doing, they help us rank higher as well. Put together with Spin Distribute and the various other tools we use, and it quickly becomes clear how we managed to build such a power site ourselves."

Spin Distribute is essentially an article spinner. This means that a single article can be written automatically in a variety of different ways.
