NORTH CALDWELL, NJ - August 20, 2025 -
Toughook USA is making waves as a top provider of durable hanging solutions, with District 21 in Wheeling, Illinois, recently adopting their products. The district moved to Toughook's school hook racks, leaving behind their outdated systems. This change not only improves the look of school campuses but also boosts functionality. Known for making unbreakable coat and backpack hooks that can support up to 88 pounds, Toughook provides a strong, reliable option for students to hang coats, lunches, and backpacks. These hooks for school use have been a big help in keeping things organized.

People love these hooks because they are strong and safe. Many school districts appreciate how they keep hallways neat and tidy. Unlike weak aluminum hooks, Toughook uses tough nylon, which is a major reason schools respond positively. Bill W. from District 21 shared, "We purchased more than 3000 hooks from Toughooks for District 21 in Wheeling, Illinois. Our old hook hanging systems were removed and upgraded and relocated with the tough hooks. The hooks serve important functions for all students, where they hang their coats, lunches and back packs in our schools. Our maintenance team installed them over the summer months and we have yet to have a hook break on us which speaks to their durability. The customer service we received was top notch. Our representative called us back quickly with any questions we had and helped us expedite the shipping process. If your school or facility needs to update your current hooks used by students, I would go with a proven product like Toughhooks."

Toughook has a wide range of products to meet different needs.
