February 23, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Los Angeles-based Team Driver Transport is proud to announce the launch of their expedited trucking services, designed to move freight faster than regular shipping to meet tight and emergency deadlines.

The company has four vehicle types available and can transport almost any shipment on very short deadlines. Unlike most expedited trucking companies, Team Driver Transport also offers less than load services to help their clients save money.

"Business doesn't always go according to plan or follow the schedule you were expecting," said Edward Saldivar, founder of Team Driver Transport. "If you fall behind, your project gets off track, or if you have found a customer that demands a timeline that you aren't sure that you can keep, then you need an expedited trucking service to make your delivery on time. Team Driver Transport keeps expedited trucking simple by getting there fast and affordably."

Team Driver Transport prides itself on their fleet of vehicles, that allows them to take on any job, regardless of size or weight. They have sprinter vans for smaller packages, as well as straight trucks for larger pallets.

They have flatbed trucks for very heavy pieces and a tractor trailer for big payloads.

Expedited trucking services aren't for every company, but those who need freight shipping often find themselves in need of emergency shipping services. Team Driver Transport is able to deliver freight shipments faster by using the team driver system -- two drivers in one truck -- to keep shipments moving around the clock.

"That's truly the benefit of our expedited trucking services," Saldivar said. "We're able to take substantial shipments and move them across the country faster than regular trucking or shipping companies. That's what the team driver system does."
