February 23, 2016

February 23, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

National restaurant furniture supplier Restaurant & Cafe Supplies Online is happy to announce that they have added unique new items to their line of outdoor restaurant furniture. Their line, which is largely focused on reclaimed wood and American-made products, now features two new outdoor chairs with reclaimed wood seats.

These complement their already extensive line of outdoor restaurant furniture, which up until this point, was largely metal-based.

Doug Stoutenburg, founder of Restaurant & Cafe Supplies Online, said: "We always aim to improve our customer service and our line of offerings. However, we only supply products that we know are of excellent quality. This is why we're happy to announce that, after a significant amount of market research, we have been able to add two more outdoor chairs with wooden seats to our offering and it is good to see that they are already proving to be very popular."

The new Restaurant & Cafe Supplies Online chairs are designed to be functional and practical, while also being comfortable and very beautiful to look at. The chairs have seats made of reclaimed wood, which also makes them highly suitable for restaurants and cafes that have a sustainable, green philosophy.

The company also offers a range of other tables, table tops, table bases, seats and shelves.

The online furniture company's products have been very well received by their growing client base.

"Our order came in just a few weeks and has completely transformed the look of our restaurant. The tables are beautiful," said Kyleigh Zengen, general manager of The Greens at the Copake Country Club.

The company also prides itself on providing a substantial range of products that are made in the USA.

"We make an effort to support the local economy, which is also highly reliant on the restaurant and cafe business," Stoutenburg said. "Having products that are made in the US also enables us to ensure the quality and craftsmanship of the products."

Those who are interested in the new chairs or any of the other Restaurant & Cafe Supplies Online products can visit their website at rcsuppliesonline.com for further information. The full range of products are available to view on the website and easy to use order facilities are also provided.
