August 20, 2025 -
HOUSTON, TX ? L & E Electrical Services, a trusted Houston-based electrical contractor providing both residential and commercial services, has officially launched a newly designed website to improve the online experience for current and prospective clients. The updated site highlights the company?s commitment to offering fast, reliable, and professional electrical solutions while showcasing its wide range of expertise in everything from emergency repairs to advanced electrical installations.

For more than 15 years, L & E Electrical Services has built a strong reputation across Greater Houston for delivering high-quality workmanship, transparent pricing, and customer-first service. With services that include EV charger installation, standby generator setup, panel upgrades, rewiring, inspections, and more, the company has become a go-to partner for homeowners, business owners, and property managers alike. The new website was designed to make these offerings easier to explore, ensuring clients can quickly find information about services, service areas, and how to request same-day assistance.

To bring this vision to life, L & E Electrical Services partnered with ASTOUNDZ, a leading Houston-based digital marketing and web development agency known for creating high-performing, search-optimized websites.

?Our goal was to create a website that?s more than just an online brochure,? said Emilio Gaona, Master Electrician & Founder of L & E Electrical Services. ?We wanted a platform where clients can quickly find the electrical services they need, understand their options, and connect with us easily. ASTOUNDZ helped us achieve that by building a modern, professional site that works as well as we do.?

The redesigned website introduces a clean, mobile-friendly design that works seamlessly across all devices?desktop, tablet, and smartphone?ensuring clients have a smooth experience wherever they are. Visitors can now explore dedicated sections for both residential and commercial services, read detailed service descriptions, and contact the company directly through streamlined online forms. The site also includes optimized navigation, making it easier for clients to access critical information in just a few clicks.

ASTOUNDZ applied its ?One Search, One Click, One Company? philosophy to ensure usability and search engine performance were at the forefront of the redesign.

?Accessibility, speed, and clarity were our top priorities,? said Steve Winter, Founder of ASTOUNDZ. ?We wanted L & E Electrical Services? website to reflect their professionalism and reliability, while also performing at the highest level for search engine visibility. The goal is simple: to help more Houston residents and businesses find the expert electrical services they need, right when they need them.?

The new website is also fully optimized for search engines, positioning L & E Electrical Services for continued growth in a competitive Houston market. Clients will not only find a faster and more intuitive website but also one that will evolve with the company, offering the flexibility to add new services, electrical safety tips, and company updates in the future.
