

New Viral Blog Writing Service Available

February 23, 2016

February 23, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Trending Traffic, a business in Friendswood, TX, has launched a new SaaS (software as a service) website. The service targets blog owners who are looking at increasing traffic and visitors to their site. This is achieved by accessing topical and viral content, which is made available by Trending Traffic. This is a unique service that is already proving to be very popular. More details are available at <http://trendingtraffic.net>.

Justin Anderson from Trending Traffic says: "Our service continuously looks at over 30 top websites, and is always on the lookout for topics that are getting tons of likes and shares. We push these out to our members' sites, so that they can also get those likes and shares and, ultimately, more traffic from Google."

Those who have already used the service have been very enthusiastic about the results. "Trending Traffic has designed a fully automated operation, which means I didn't even have to look at it anymore," says one happy customer. "The social engagement I have received through their service is out of this world. I have had crazy amounts of shares and likes and this is despite not having any coding experience myself, or site building knowledge. And all of that only took me about three minutes."

Justin Anderson explained that there are three ways to attract traffic to websites. These are paid ads, social and SEO/organic activities. His focus is on automated social sharing. Having tested the system on himself first, he guarantees its success, not in the least because going viral has been proven to bring in millions of visitors, as well as dollars.

The concept behind Trending Traffic came from Justin's experience with another viral traffic product called Bullet Viral Traffic. It was with this product that thousands of web site owners began to put viral content to work on their sites, bringing in web site traffic. Due to customer requests and suggestions, a year later Trending Traffic was launched.

"What's next for the crew at Trending Traffic? We want to make it fast and painless for blog owners to publish high quality articles - in some cases even automatically. By doing this we free up hours and hours every week, enabling blog owners to focus more on growth, partnerships, and ad sales. After all, writing content for blog posts is a lot like term papers in college - you put them off to the last minute and maybe even then still don't do it. I want to remove that pain for good!"

###

For more information about Trending Traffic, contact the company here: Trending Traffic Justin Anderson 469.371.2222 justin@humankindinc.com 820 S. Friendswood Dr, Ste 205 Friendswood, TX 77546

Trending Traffic

Trending Traffic is an online company that provides blog owners with topical, current, and highly shared content for their sites. This content enables blog owners to hop on current and viral trends, driving fresh visitors to their site.

Website: <http://trendingtraffic.net>

Email: justin@humankindinc.com

Phone: 469.371.2222

Powered by PressAdvantage.com