

New Beard Balm Released By Leven Rose

February 23, 2016

February 23, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Leven Rose, a business in Colorado Springs, CO, announces the solution to the February beard. Movember, the month when many men grow beards to raise awareness for prostate cancer, has passed and many men are still sporting beard growth. As the season turns warmer for many, the pursuit to find a solution to care for a longer beard while maintaining a professional appearance is sought.

Many men have needed to shave their longer beards for their professional jobs. The newly-improved Leven Rose beard balm, with a new proprietary blend of all natural ingredients is the product that many men have requested through customer feedback as a solution to having a well-conditioned, tamed, and lightly shaped, longer beard that is deemed workplace appropriate.

This unscented, 100% natural beard balm has been specially-developed for the longer-growth beard that needs added, leave-in conditioning without a noticeable scent. Compacted into a small portable tin with professional packaging, it is appropriate to keep at work for added shaping during the workday.

Courtney Olson from Leven Rose says: "The way to craft a magnificent beard is to give it proper care. Most guys give up growing a longer beard because it no longer looks groomed, so they feel the social pressure to shave it off. Often, this is for professional reasons because it looks unkempt. Our 100% natural beard balm helps to resolve these issues."

The balm is completely free of chemicals, parabens and other fillers. Leven Rose aims to give men the ability to keep their beards longer, by helping them get the added shaping and healthy hair care that is needed in order to create a beautiful beard. In conjunction with the product, the company has also released information on how to use beard balm, helping their customers get the most out of their purchase.

Those who have tried the product have been raving about it. "This beard balm is awesome for any man with a beard or mustache," says Adam A. "It will leave your beard feeling healthier and softer with it's 100% all natural ingredients, like jojoba oil, and beeswax. I especially like the fact that the product is fragrance free. After using other beard balms even a mild fragrance can be quite strong when it's directly under your nose."

Leven Rose is the #1 Beard Oil manufacturer on Amazon and continues to round out their beard care offerings. They also hold a weekly Beards on Instagram recognition campaign to encourage people to share images of their beards, particularly after using any of the Leven Rose products celebrating their beards.

"The hipster movement is still alive and kicking, but the beards go beyond a movement," says Courtney Olson. "We love getting and sharing these photos because we believe the beard is here to stay."
