

DK/RK Services Responds to Rising Sales Tax Audits Targeting Businesses with Poor Bookkeeping

September 24, 2025

COMMERCE CITY, CO - September 24, 2025 -
DK/RK Services, a bookkeeping and accounting firm serving the Denver metropolitan area, announces expanded support services as state sales tax audits increase significantly for Colorado businesses with inadequate bookkeeping practices.

"State auditors are focusing on businesses that cannot produce organized financial records or demonstrate consistent sales tax compliance," said Dottie Korbe, a spokesperson of DK/RK Services. "The increased enforcement activity reflects Colorado's emphasis on closing the tax gap through targeted audits of businesses showing red flags in their reporting."

DK/RK Services Bookkeeping in Denver provides accounting setup, outsourced CFO services, management accounting, and QuickBooks support to help businesses maintain audit-ready financial records. The firm's services include bank reconciliation, invoicing, accounts receivable management, expense tracking, financial reporting, and sales tax reporting support.

Recent enforcement actions highlight common audit triggers, including inconsistent sales tax filings, unreported cash transactions, and failure to maintain proper documentation for exempt sales.

Industry analysis indicates that businesses in retail, food service, and construction face heightened audit risk due to complex sales tax requirements and multiple jurisdiction reporting obligations. Colorado's home rule cities add another layer of complexity, with over 70 municipalities maintaining independent sales tax codes.

The state's adoption of destination-based sourcing rules for sales tax has created additional compliance challenges, particularly for businesses operating across multiple jurisdictions. Auditors report that calculation errors and improper tax collection remain the most common violations discovered during examinations.

DK/RK Services Bookkeeping Denver addresses these compliance challenges through systematic financial record management and regular reconciliation processes. The firm's QuickBooks ProAdvisor certification enables the implementation of accounting systems designed to maintain audit trails and documentation standards required by state regulators.

As audits become more frequent, financial experts warn that even minor bookkeeping errors can lead to significant penalties and interest charges. Businesses without internal accounting staff often struggle to meet reporting deadlines and maintain accurate records across multiple platforms. By engaging professional bookkeeping services, companies reduce their exposure to costly enforcement actions while improving overall financial visibility.

DK/RK Services emphasizes proactive strategies such as monthly reconciliations, customized reporting schedules, and ongoing compliance reviews. These measures not only prepare businesses for potential audits but also strengthen operational decision-making by providing timely and accurate financial data. The firm notes that companies that treat bookkeeping as a strategic tool, rather than just a regulatory requirement, gain long-term advantages in both risk management and business planning.

Based in Commerce City, Colorado, DK/RK Services provides bookkeeping consultancy, management accounting, QuickBooks cleanup and setup, billing and accounts receivable management, inventory tracking, cash management, bank reconciliations, and financial account analysis. The company serves businesses throughout the Denver metropolitan area with services tailored to meet Colorado's specific regulatory requirements.
