Siam Legal (Chiang Mai), a law firm serving Chiang Mai for over two decades, announces expanded legal services to address the increasing needs of expatriates, digital nomads, and international investors choosing Northern Thailand as their base for business and residence.

The firm has enhanced its service offerings to include specialized support for Digital Nomad DTV visas and Long-Term Resident visas, responding to Thailand's recent visa policy changes that have attracted a new wave of international professionals to the region. This expansion builds on the firm's established expertise in providing comprehensive legal solutions to both foreign and local clients.

"The legal landscape in Thailand continues to evolve, particularly with new visa categories and investment opportunities attracting international clients to Chiang Mai," said Apichart Mattayanuwat, a spokesperson for Siam Legal Chiang Mai. "Our expanded services reflect our commitment to staying ahead of these changes while maintaining the personalized attention and expertise our clients have relied on for more than 20 years."

Siam Legal (Chiang Mai) offers a comprehensive range of legal services from its Chiang Mai office, including notary public services, due diligence, contract review, and lease agreement drafting. The firm assists clients with family law matters such as prenuptial agreements, marriage registration, and last will and testament drafting. For business clients, the firm provides company registration services and guidance through Thailand's regulatory framework. The firm's immigration practice has become increasingly vital as Chiang Mai attracts more international residents. Beyond the newly supported Digital Nomad and Long-Term Resident visa categories, Siam Legal (Chiang Mai) continues to assist with Thai retirement visas, Thailand Elite visas, and foreign visa applications for the United States, United Kingdom, Australia, Canada, and Schengen Area countries.

The expansion comes as Chiang Mai experiences significant growth in its expatriate community and international business sector. The city's appeal as a hub for remote workers and entrepreneurs has created demand for sophisticated legal services that bridge Thai and international legal requirements.

Siam Legal Chiang Mai's team includes experienced Thai lawyers and qualified foreign attorneys who provide services in multiple languages. This multilingual capability has proven essential for serving Chiang Mai's diverse international community. The firm also maintains its established practice areas in civil and criminal litigation, property law, and business structures.

For clients requiring document authentication and certification, the firm's notary public services remain a cornerstone offering. Details about these services are available at https://www.siam-legal.com/notary-public-chiangmai.php.
