

White Oak Landscape Expands Services to Include Stonework and Hardscaping

September 16, 2025

MARIETTA, GA - September 16, 2025 -

??White Oak Landscape has announced the expansion of its services with the addition of professional stonework and hardscaping for residential and commercial properties across Georgia. The service introduces new design and installation options, including patios, walkways, retaining walls, and related features, intended to provide durable and functional improvements to outdoor areas.

Outdoor spaces can often be underutilized or limited by erosion, uneven ground, or impractical layouts. The White Oak Landscape hardscaping division addresses these issues by installing structural features such as stone patios, brick or gravel walkways, and retaining walls that serve both functional and aesthetic purposes. These installations are designed to support long-term use while contributing to the overall appearance of the property.

?Our objective is to design outdoor features that integrate naturally with the existing landscape,? said Rocky DeVotie, owner at White Oak Landscape. ?The focus is on functionality, durability, and the visual connection between the hardscape and the surrounding yard.?

The landscape company designs and installs patios, retaining walls, and pathways using materials such as pavers, brick, concrete, and natural stone. In addition to its structural features, White Oak Landscape also develops outdoor environments that incorporate elements such as fire pits, water features, and kitchens, expanding the ways outdoor areas are utilized. Decorative stone, plants, and gravel are often used to complement structural features and provide continuity between landscaped and hardscaped areas, enhancing both residential and commercial spaces.

White Oak Landscape stonework emphasizes the importance of detailed planning and quality materials for each project. Materials are selected for both durability and compatibility with the surrounding design. This hardscaping approach considers structural integrity, the practicality of each stone feature, and the long-term use of outdoor living areas. The company aims to create stonework installations that remain stable and functional while blending into the broader property landscape design.

According to DeVotie, property owners often seek outdoor areas that strike a balance between appearance and ease of maintenance. He noted that the hardscaping and stonework service has been developed to provide options that meet those preferences while ensuring that new installations align with overall landscaping plans.

The firm continues to provide full-service landscape design and maintenance in addition to its hardscape work. By managing both plantings and structural features, the company ensures that lawns, gardens, and stonework are coordinated into a unified outdoor environment. This combined service model enables the development of properties that consider both softscapes and hardscapes in a unified approach.

Headquartered near Atlanta, Georgia, White Oak Landscape has been operating in the region for several decades. The company provides a range of landscaping services for both residential and commercial clients, including maintenance, design, and installation. The expansion into hardscaping reflects the company's ongoing efforts to adapt its services to evolving property needs, while maintaining a focus on craftsmanship and consistent project management.
