Heartland Group Design and Build Expands Remodeling Contractor Services with Roof Additions

November 17, 2025

CARMEL, IN - November 17, 2025 -
Heartland Group Design and Build, a Central Indiana home improvement specialist, announces the expansion of its service offerings to include roof additions, providing homeowners with comprehensive solutions for maximizing their living spaces and enhancing property value.

The expansion addresses growing demand from homeowners seeking to add functional square footage through vertical expansion rather than traditional ground-level additions. Roof additions, also known as second-story additions or dormer expansions, allow property owners to increase their living space while maintaining their existing yard and footprint.

"Adding roof additions to our service portfolio represents a natural progression for our company as we continue to meet the evolving needs of Central Indiana homeowners," said Chris Schmidt, President of Heartland Group Design and Build. "Many properties in established neighborhoods have limited lot space for traditional additions, making vertical expansion an ideal solution for families needing additional bedrooms, home offices, or recreational spaces."

As a Remodeling Contractor serving Carmel, Indianapolis, Worthington, and surrounding communities, Heartland Group Design and Build manages every aspect of roof addition projects, from initial design consultation through final construction. The process includes structural assessment, architectural planning, permit acquisition, and coordination with local building codes specific to Central Indiana municipalities.

The company, which has completed over 1,200 projects since 2014, brings twelve years of construction expertise to these complex renovation projects. Roof additions require specialized knowledge of structural engineering, load-bearing calculations, and seamless integration with existing rooflines and architectural styles.

Roof additions offer several advantages over traditional home expansion methods. These projects typically provide better views, increased natural light through dormers or skylights, and enhanced privacy for new living spaces. Common applications include master bedroom suites, children's bedrooms, home theaters, and dedicated workspace areas responding to the continued trend of remote work arrangements.

The timing of this service expansion aligns with current real estate trends showing homeowners choosing to improve existing properties rather than relocate in a competitive housing market. Strategic home improvements, particularly those adding square footage, consistently rank among the most valuable investments for property enhancement.

"Room additions in Carmel Indiana require careful planning and execution to ensure structural integrity while maintaining the aesthetic appeal of the home," added Schmidt. "Our team specializes in creating additions that appear as original features of the house, not afterthoughts, which is crucial for both daily enjoyment and long-term property value."

The company's comprehensive approach includes coordination with its existing services such as roofing installation, siding updates, and interior remodeling to ensure cohesive project completion. This integrated service model eliminates the need for homeowners to coordinate multiple contractors for different aspects of their expansion project.

Heartland Group Design and Build operates throughout Central Indiana, offering personalized consultations to assess the feasibility and potential of roof additions for individual properties. The company specializes in kitchen remodeling, bathroom renovations, room additions, flooring installation, deck building, garage construction, patio installation, and complete exterior services including roofing and siding installation.

###

For more information about Heartland Group Design and Build, contact the company here:Heartland Group

Design and BuildChris Schmidt(317) 533-3515chris@heartlandgbd.com600 E Carmel Dr #316, Carmel, IN 46032

Heartland Group Design and Build

Heartland GBD is a trusted design-build firm based in Carmel, Indiana, dedicated to transforming homes across the Indy metro area with exceptional craftsmanship in remodeling, room additions, and outdoor living spaces.

Website: https://heartlandgbd.com/

Email: chris@heartlandgbd.com

Phone: (317) 533-3515