Cranston, RI clinic Muldowney Physical Therapy has recently released a new book written by the clinic's founder, Kevin Muldowney. The exercise protocols described in the book, which address Ehlers-Danlos Syndrome or EDS, have been shown to be 100% successful. As a result, positive testimonials are being received on a daily basis. The author has released excerpts from the book in a ebook format that it is filled with various EDS pain relief info for people that would like to learn a little more about his protocol before purchasing the full book.

Kevin Muldowney himself says: "When I released my book, I never would have thought it was going to be this popular. I am just so happy that many people are finding benefits from it and see an improvement in their quality of life."

Muldowney's book and treatment are now so popular that people are flying into Rhode Island from all over the country. Additionally, patients from other countries, including New Zealand and Germany, have also made appointments with him. This is due to the fact that he offers a one of a kind treatment protocol. In fact, Muldowney is one of the only therapists in the world who specializes on EDS. When looking at his Facebook

"Wow," says Jenny G.G. "Am reading your book and p21 is making me say Wow. This gives me hope."

The book remains available on Amazon and aims to educate not just physical therapists but also patients on the best ways to treat the condition. "This book is intended for the person diagnosed with EDS to both inform them about the healthcare team needed to properly treat them as well as to guide both the physical therapist and the patient with EDS through the Muldowney exercise protocol," adds Muldowney. "This book will cover such topics as: how joints sublux in this population, how to find the right physical therapist, how to exercise without injury and what physical therapy techniques works best. By the end of this protocol, people with EDS should be better informed about what is going on with their body and how to make it better."

People are also encouraged to find Muldowney PT on YouTube for further information.
