JURUPA VALLEY, CA - September 17, 2025 -
RIVERSIDE, Calif. ? Resurgence Behavioral Health in Riverside announced the release of its latest educational article, ?How Can You Use the Five Rules of Recovery to Stay Sober??, offering practical guidance for people working to maintain long-term sobriety. This new resource underscores Resurgence?s role as one of California?s most trusted providers of drug rehab, alcohol detox, and relapse prevention programs.

The Riverside location at 3686 Pacific Ave. continues to be recognized as a leader in comprehensive addiction treatment, serving patients across neighborhoods such as Alessandro Heights, Canyon Crest, Orangecrest, Mission Grove, Victoria, Arlington, La Sierra, Casa Blanca, and the Wood Streets community. For people searching online for ?drug rehab in Riverside California? or ?alcohol rehab near me,? Resurgence offers both the structure and the professional support needed to sustain recovery.

The new article explains the ?Five Rules of Recovery,? a widely respected framework in relapse prevention.

These rules emphasize lifestyle change, honesty, asking for help, practicing self-care, and following a structured recovery plan. Resurgence?s clinical team reinforces these principles across all levels of care, from detox to long-term aftercare. Patients are guided to develop coping skills and routines that reduce the risk of relapse and support healthy, sober living.

Resurgence programs begin with medically supervised detox services, ensuring that patients can withdraw from drugs or alcohol safely and with professional support. Following detox, patients enter customized treatment plans that include evidence-based therapies such as cognitive behavioral therapy, trauma-informed counseling, and group therapy. Relapse prevention education is integrated throughout, preparing patients to face challenges with resilience and confidence.

The Riverside alcohol rehab center has earned recognition for its ability to combine evidence-based care with compassion. Patients frequently describe the staff as supportive and attentive, noting the way counselors, therapists, and medical professionals create an environment where progress feels possible. Feedback consistently highlights the facility?s ability to provide more than treatment?it provides encouragement and structure for personal transformation.

A staff spokesperson explained that Resurgence?s goal is to prepare patients for life beyond treatment: ?Recovery does not end when patients leave our care. By teaching and reinforcing the Five Rules of Recovery, we ensure people have the tools, confidence, and community support to maintain sobriety.?

Resurgence?s influence extends beyond the core city of Riverside into surrounding neighborhoods, strengthening access to care throughout the Inland Empire. Patients from Orangecrest, Canyon Crest, and Alessandro Heights report the convenience of being able to receive professional addiction treatment close to home without sacrificing quality. Families in Mission Grove, Victoria, and Casa Blanca have also emphasized the importance of having a trusted alcohol rehab and drug rehab provider nearby.

Family involvement remains central to Resurgence?s approach. Programs include family therapy and educational sessions designed to repair relationships and build a network of support that extends beyond treatment. This emphasis reflects the facility?s commitment to healing both the individual and their loved ones.

Resurgence Behavioral Health?s Riverside facility continues to be regarded as one of the most respected drug rehabs in California, known for its focus on patient-centered care, clinical excellence, and community impact. By integrating the Five Rules of Recovery into its relapse prevention programs, the center ensures that patients are not only supported in achieving sobriety but also equipped to maintain it long after treatment ends.
