Cool Blew Inc. Expands Emergency Commercial AC Repair Services During Extended Heat Wave

October 14, 2025

Peoria, AZ - October 14, 2025 -
Cool Blew Inc., a Peoria-based HVAC service provider, has announced the expansion of its 24/7 emergency air conditioning repair services throughout the Phoenix metropolitan area as the region experiences another late-season heat wave. The company, which has served Arizona communities since 2002, is responding to increased demand for both residential and commercial cooling system repairs during the extended high-temperature period.

The expansion comes as temperatures across the Phoenix Valley continue to exceed seasonal averages, placing additional strain on air conditioning systems that have already endured months of continuous operation. Cool Blew Inc. has mobilized additional technicians and extended service hours to address the surge in emergency repair requests from businesses and homeowners throughout the region.

"When temperatures remain elevated well into what should be cooler months, we see a significant increase in system failures, particularly in commercial properties where cooling systems run continuously," said Scott Proctor, Operations Manager at Cool Blew Inc. "Our expanded emergency response capabilities ensure that businesses requiring commercial AC repair in Surprise and surrounding communities can receive immediate assistance to maintain safe operating conditions for their employees and customers."

The company's service expansion addresses critical cooling needs across multiple sectors, including retail establishments, office buildings, warehouses, and industrial facilities. Commercial properties face unique challenges during extended heat periods, as system failures can result in business interruptions, inventory damage, and unsafe working conditions.

Beyond emergency repairs, Cool Blew Inc. emphasizes the importance of preventive maintenance to avoid system failures during extreme weather events. The company offers comprehensive inspection services that identify potential issues before they result in complete system breakdowns. These preventive measures include checking refrigerant levels, inspecting electrical components, and evaluating overall system efficiency.

The company also specializes in air duct sealing in Phoenix, a service that has become increasingly important as property owners seek to maximize cooling efficiency while minimizing energy costs. Properly sealed ductwork prevents cooled air from escaping through leaks, reducing the strain on air conditioning systems and lowering utility expenses.

"Our technicians are finding that many cooling problems stem from inefficient ductwork rather than equipment failure," added Proctor. "By addressing these underlying issues, we help our clients achieve better cooling performance while reducing their energy consumption during peak demand periods."

Cool Blew Inc. utilizes advanced diagnostic equipment and repair techniques, including AeroSeal technology for duct sealing applications. This approach provides more effective and lasting results compared to traditional sealing methods, with warranties extending up to 10 years on completed work.

The company maintains a comprehensive inventory of replacement parts and equipment to ensure rapid response times for emergency repairs. Technicians receive ongoing training on the latest HVAC technologies and repair procedures, enabling them to service a wide range of commercial and residential cooling systems.

Cool Blew Inc. is a family-owned and operated HVAC service company that has provided heating, cooling, plumbing, and solar services to Phoenix-area communities for over two decades. The company serves Peoria, Surprise, Phoenix, Glendale, Scottsdale, Mesa, Gilbert, Tempe, and surrounding areas, offering both emergency repairs and scheduled maintenance services for residential and commercial properties.
