

Enrichment Skin Solutions Showcases PRF Treatments at Brooklyn Park Wellness Fair

September 15, 2025

September 15, 2025 -
Enrichment Skin Solutions, a comprehensive medical aesthetics clinic in Brooklyn Park, will participate in the upcoming Wellness Fair hosted by Complete Performance on Saturday, October 4th, from 9:00 AM to 1:00 PM. The community-focused event brings together local wellness providers, businesses, and residents for a day of health education and connection.

Enrichment Skin Solutions, a medical spa in Brooklyn Park, will feature an interactive booth where attendees can learn about advanced aesthetic treatments and regenerative therapies. As part of their community engagement, Enrichment Skin Solutions has donated a PRF Injection Treatment as a prize giveaway for event attendees. This advanced regenerative therapy uses the body's own platelet-rich fibrin to naturally rejuvenate skin, addressing concerns such as fine lines, wrinkles, dark circles, acne scars, and overall skin texture.

Adding to the excitement, Miss Midwest 2025, Morgan Mohler, will make a special appearance at the Enrichment Skin Solutions booth during the event. Visitors will have the opportunity to meet Mohler while learning about the latest developments in medical aesthetics and wellness treatments.

"We are thrilled to be part of this important community gathering that promotes health awareness and wellness education," said Kris Johnson, co-owner of Enrichment Skin Solutions. "The Wellness Fair event provides an excellent opportunity for us to connect with our neighbors and share information about how regenerative treatments like PRF can help people achieve their aesthetic goals naturally. We believe in empowering our community with knowledge about innovative treatments that go beyond traditional skincare approaches."

The Complete Performance Wellness Fair represents a collaborative effort among Brooklyn Park businesses to promote holistic health and wellness. The event will feature various health screenings, educational presentations, and interactive demonstrations from multiple wellness providers. Enrichment Skin Solutions' participation underscores their commitment to community health beyond their clinic walls.

PRF Injection Treatment, the prize being offered by Enrichment Skin Solutions, uses concentrated growth factors from the patient's own blood to stimulate collagen production and cellular regeneration. The treatment typically takes 45 to 60 minutes and can provide lasting improvements in skin quality and appearance.

Community members interested in attending can visit the event at Complete Performance in Brooklyn Park on October 4th. Attendees are encouraged to stop by the Enrichment Skin Solutions booth to enter the prize drawing and discover the range of services available at the medical spa, including innovative regenerative treatments like PRF.

Enrichment Skin Solutions is a family-owned medical aesthetics clinic operated by husband-wife duo Michael and Kris Johnson. The board-certified aesthetic specialists offer comprehensive services including injectables like Botox, body sculpting, facial aesthetics, and medical-grade skincare. Their approach focuses on regenerative healing that addresses the root causes of aesthetic concerns rather than merely treating surface symptoms.
