Copyfast Printing Center Expands Banner Printing Capacity for Conferences and Events

September 25, 2025

SCOTTSDALE, AZ - September 25, 2025 -
Copyfast Printing Center has expanded its production capabilities with additional equipment designed to handle larger banner printing projects for conferences, conventions, and corporate events. The investment in new large-format printing technology positions the company to meet growing demand from event organizers and businesses requiring high-volume banner production.

The expanded capacity allows Copyfast Printing to produce conference banners, trade show displays, and event signage with faster turnaround times while maintaining the quality standards that have earned the company a five-star rating. The new equipment complements the company's existing digital and offset printing services, creating a comprehensive solution for organizations planning major events at the Scottsdale location and surrounding venues.

"The addition of this equipment represents our commitment to serving the conference and convention market in Scottsdale," said Tom Lafata, a Spokesperson for Copyfast Printing Center. "We recognized that event planners and conference organizers needed a local partner capable of handling large-scale banner orders without compromising on quality or delivery schedules. This expansion allows us to fill that gap while keeping all production in-house."

The timing of the expansion aligns with the return of major conferences and trade shows to the region. Event venues throughout Scottsdale, Phoenix, Tempe, and Mesa have created demand for professional printing services that can accommodate everything from small corporate meetings to large-scale conventions.

Banner Printing remains a core service for the company, which offers customization in various materials, including paper, cloth, and vinyl. The new equipment enhances production capabilities for wide-format banners and large-format graphics, providing greater flexibility in terms of size and quantity. This expanded capacity benefits not only conference organizers but also businesses requiring promotional materials, trade show exhibitors needing display materials, and organizations hosting special events.

"Our goal has always been to provide comprehensive printing solutions under one roof," added Lafata. "With this equipment upgrade, we can now handle banner orders that previously might have required multiple vendors or extended lead times. This means our clients can coordinate all their printing needs through a single source, from business cards and brochures to large-scale banners and displays."

The company maintains its full range of services, offering digital printing, print-on-demand, variable-data printing, graphic design, and direct mail campaign management. The expanded banner production capability integrates seamlessly with these existing services, enabling clients to coordinate comprehensive marketing and event materials packages.

Copyfast Printing Center operates from its Scottsdale Location and serves numerous communities throughout Arizona, including Phoenix, Tempe, Mesa, Chandler, Paradise Valley, and Cave Creek. The company specializes in providing printing solutions for businesses, organizations, and individuals, with services ranging from business cards and brochures to large-format printing and complete direct mail campaigns. All design, production, and finishing services are completed in-house, ensuring quality control and efficient turnaround times for clients throughout the region.
