

Intire Letting Agents Bristol Responds To Recent Increase In Demand For Rental Properties

March 14, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

A recent influx in rental demands throughout Bristol, UK, has prompted a major response from Intire Letting Agents Bristol. The firm has announced new systems in place that are specifically designed to deal with the demand for rental properties in their area.

Atif Javid, spokesperson for the letting agents in Bristol, states, "The increase is due to a boom in buy to let property purchases, and we are now providing quality letting services to landlords looking to let out their properties."

Javid says that the housing market changes from day to day, and that often there just aren't enough rental properties available. Properties that are vacant often come with landlords who refuse to keep them at their best, which means unsatisfactory living conditions which many consumers simply choose to avoid. The letting agents say that they now have systems in place that make it much faster and easier for good landlords to rent out their vacant properties, and to ensure that tenants feel safe and comfortable in their new surroundings.

"Our agency has won awards for our property management services," states Javid. "We are sure to have the knowledge and experience any landlord is looking for to properly let out their properties."

What sets the Bristol letting agents at Intire apart from other similar agencies is their fee structure. They offer all-inclusive services to landlords with no add-on charges. Javid states that their services are quickly becoming increasingly popular as landlords try to fill their vacancies and consumers search frantically for suitable properties to live in.

Landlords and tenants alike who have worked with Intire have reported that they were completely satisfied with their experience. The company has a website where lists of testimonials from past landlords and renters can be seen, which are proof, according to Javid, of the quality services that the letting agency provides.

Those who are interested in learning more about the system put into place by Intire Letting Agents Bristol to help landlords and renters to come to a satisfactory relationship can check out the company's official website where a complete list of services can be found.
