

Davis & Son Expands Commercial Furnace Maintenance Services

September 26, 2025

MONETT, MO - September 26, 2025 -
Davis & Son, an HVAC and plumbing contractor with over four decades of experience, has expanded its commercial heating services to better serve businesses throughout the region as winter approaches. The expansion addresses growing demand for reliable commercial furnace maintenance and repair services across multiple counties in Southwest Missouri.

The expanded service offerings come as businesses prepare for colder months and seek to ensure their heating systems operate efficiently throughout the winter season. Davis & Son Heating Contractor now provides comprehensive commercial furnace inspections, preventive maintenance programs, and emergency repair services designed specifically for the unique demands of commercial properties.

"Commercial heating systems require specialized expertise and timely attention to prevent costly disruptions to business operations," said Kristen, a Spokesperson for Davis & Son. "Our expanded services ensure that businesses across Southwest Missouri have access to professional furnace maintenance and repair when they need it most, helping them maintain comfortable environments for their employees and customers throughout the winter months."

The company's commercial heating services encompass a wide range of systems and brands, with technicians trained in the latest diagnostic and repair techniques for commercial-grade equipment. Services include routine maintenance contracts, system efficiency evaluations, emergency repairs, and complete furnace replacements for aging systems. The expansion particularly focuses on serving businesses in Barry, Lawrence, Christian, Greene, Jasper, Newton, McDonald, and Stone counties.

Recent industry data indicates that regular commercial furnace maintenance can reduce heating costs while extending equipment lifespan significantly. Businesses that neglect routine maintenance face increased risk of system failures during peak heating season, potentially resulting in temporary closures and lost revenue.

Davis & Son furnace repair teams utilize advanced diagnostic equipment to identify potential issues before they escalate into major problems. The company maintains a comprehensive inventory of commercial-grade parts and components, enabling faster repair times and minimizing business disruptions. Their technicians receive ongoing training on the latest commercial HVAC technologies and safety protocols.

The timing of this service expansion aligns with increased awareness among business owners about the importance of indoor air quality and energy efficiency. Modern commercial furnace systems, when properly maintained, can significantly improve air quality while reducing energy consumption and operating costs.

Davis & Son has served Southwest Missouri since its founding over 40 years ago, building a reputation for reliable service and technical expertise. The company provides comprehensive HVAC and plumbing solutions for both residential and commercial clients throughout the region. Their service portfolio includes air conditioning installation and repair, heating system maintenance, plumbing services, and emergency response for critical system failures. The company maintains a team of certified technicians who undergo continuous training to stay current with evolving industry standards and technologies.
