

Outertainment Construction Inc. Expands Full-Service Backyard Design-Build Solutions to Five New Bay Area Cities

September 22, 2025

SAN JOSE, CA - September 22, 2025 -

San Jose, CA ? Outertainment Construction Inc., a licensed contractor specializing in luxury backyard design and build, announced today the expansion of its services to five additional Bay Area cities. Homeowners in Saratoga, Palo Alto, Los Gatos, Cupertino, and Mountain View will now have access to the company?s complete outdoor living solutions, extending its reputation for creating custom environments that blend comfort, function, and refined design.

Founded in 2005 and headquartered in San Jose, Outertainment Construction Inc. has become a trusted name in Silicon Valley for transforming properties into fully realized outdoor environments. Unlike firms that focus narrowly on landscaping or construction alone, the company manages every step in-house. From 3D concept design to permitting, grading, drainage, masonry, lighting, planting, and final finishes, Outertainment Construction Inc. delivers a seamless process under one roof.

The company has earned recognition for designing and building backyards that combine luxury features such as custom pools and spas, outdoor kitchens and BBQ islands, pergolas and cabanas, patios and paver walkways, fire features, artificial turf, ambient lighting, and water features including waterfalls, fountains, and koi ponds. These features are never offered in isolation but as part of a cohesive, lifestyle-driven vision. By creating entire outdoor environments, the company ensures homeowners receive a backyard that feels both elegant and practical.

This expansion comes in response to consistent demand from homeowners in neighboring communities who admire the company?s work in San Jose. ?Inquiries have consistently come from homeowners in nearby cities who are looking for outdoor spaces that are both beautiful and built to last,? said Juan Jimenez, owner and founder of Outertainment Construction Inc. ?Expanding our service area was a natural next step. These communities deserve access to design-build expertise that prioritizes functionality, style, and long-term value.?

The design-build approach is one of the company?s defining advantages. By keeping all aspects of the project in-house, Outertainment Construction Inc. eliminates the confusion, delays, and quality inconsistencies that often come with juggling subcontractors. This single-team model ensures accountability, tighter communication, and consistent craftsmanship. Homeowners work with one dedicated team from the first consultation through final completion, with every stage handled by licensed professionals who share the same commitment to excellence.

The company also makes use of advanced 3D design and VR previews, tools that allow clients to see their backyard in detail before construction begins. Homeowners can walk virtually through their new space, exploring how pools, kitchens, pergolas, and seating areas flow together. This preview process reduces the risk of costly mid-project changes and helps clients feel confident in their decisions. ?When clients see their design come to life in 3D, it creates excitement and builds trust,? Juan Jimenez explained. ?It also ensures we?re aligned with their vision before construction even starts.?

Each of the newly added cities presents its own design opportunities and challenges. Saratoga?s hillside estates often require careful slope management, erosion control, and premium finishes that complement luxury architecture. In Palo Alto, where property values are among the highest in the region, compact lot sizes demand creative space planning and intelligent use of every square foot. Los Gatos homes often call for seamless transitions between built structures and scenic hillside views. Cupertino?s family-oriented neighborhoods require practical, multi-use layouts that balance play zones, entertainment spaces, and sustainable features. In Mountain View, efficiency and clean, modern aesthetics are top priorities.

Outertainment Construction Inc. approaches each project with local expertise, ensuring that zoning regulations, soil conditions, and climate factors are addressed early. This preparation results in outdoor spaces that are not only visually striking but also durable, low-maintenance, and sustainable. California-native planting, low-water turf alternatives, and energy-efficient lighting are common features, helping homeowners embrace sustainable living while maintaining comfort and style.

The company emphasizes that every project is designed around the individual homeowner?s lifestyle. ?Each project is tailored to the property and the individuals who live there,? said Juan Jimenez. ?The process begins with listening. We ask clients how they use their yard, what challenges they face, and what level of maintenance works for them. From there, we develop a design that fits seamlessly into their lifestyle and enhances their property value.?

Outertainment Construction Inc. has been recognized not only for its construction expertise but also for its professionalism and service. Clients regularly highlight the company?s punctuality, responsiveness, and ability to find creative solutions for challenging properties. Many appreciate the peace of mind that comes from working with a single accountable team, rather than coordinating multiple contractors.

By expanding into Saratoga, Palo Alto, Los Gatos, Cupertino, and Mountain View, Outertainment Construction Inc. reaffirms its commitment to building outdoor spaces that improve daily life while preserving long-term value. The company remains focused on its founding principles of integrity, craftsmanship, and client satisfaction. ?Expansion is not about growth for its own sake,? Juan Jimenez added. ?It?s about serving more homeowners with the same level of care and attention we have always provided. Our goal remains delivering backyards that bring joy, comfort, and lasting value.?

Homeowners in these new service areas can now experience Outertainment Construction Inc.?s signature design-build approach, complete with immersive design previews, in-house project management, and luxury features crafted to endure California?s climate.
