The shower caps for toddlers recently launched onto the Amazon marketplace by Sharleen's Shower Accessories have reportedly received rave reviews. Customers purchasing the children's shower caps have given it multiple five star reviews, the highest possible on the marketplace. Designed specifically for toddlers, the shower caps are "comfortable, easy to use, durable, and soft on a baby's skull," according to a spokesperson for the company.

The caps are lined with soft terry cloth for comfort, and the company states that they can prolong hairstyles. Designed for children ages two to seven, the caps also work best for those with shorter hair. The toddler's shower caps come in a pack of three and currently include a free natural sponge for bath time as well.

Of the customers that have purchased the recently launched product, most give it the highest possible review. One customer states, "These are great shower caps for kids. My kids enjoyed putting them on and hopping in for a quick shower. With time limited and the weather colder I don't want my kids going to bed with wet hair."

Another says that the caps are "Made strong and fit kids head great." The company spokesperson states that the caps are designed specifically for toddlers and younger children, and that they should fit the heads of most children that fall within the said age range. The spokesperson also states that the selection of designs, as well as the warm, comfortable terry cloth lining are likely the reason for the high customer reviews.

The company states that the floral design makes it desirable for many youngsters and there are different designs from which parents can choose. The shower caps are specifically designed to be more durable than regular plastic shower caps, ensuring that they last much longer, particularly for children.

Those who may be interested in learning more about the toddler's shower caps can find the product on the Amazon marketplace, along with other products sold currently by Sharleen's Shower Accessories. The company provides a number of consumer shower and hygiene products and regularly releases new items onto the marketplace.
