Christian Fischbacher Bed & Bath AG Updates Product Lines with Focus on Sustainable Textile Manufacturing

October 03, 2025

St. Gallen, SG - October 03, 2025 -
Christian Fischbacher Bed & Bath AG has updated its bedding and bath collections to incorporate expanded sustainable manufacturing practices across its textile production facilities in St. Gallen, Switzerland. The company has integrated new material sourcing protocols and revised its production processes to address current environmental standards in the luxury textile sector.

The updates affect multiple product categories, including the company's Luxury Nights, Moments, and Atelier bedding lines, as well as its bath textile collections. The St. Gallen-based manufacturer has modified its production methods to incorporate recycled materials and reduce water consumption in its dyeing processes, according to company representatives.

"At the heart of our philosophy is the desire to combine artistry with functionality in every product," said M. Scherrer, company spokesperson for Christian Fischbacher. "Our commitment to sustainability is woven into every piece we create, ensuring a brighter future."

Christian Fischbacher maintains distribution channels throughout Europe with shipping services available to multiple markets. The company provides product information and ordering through its website at https://www.christianfischbacher.com.

The product line modifications include adjustments to the company's quilts and pillows category, which now features expanded options in natural hair and synthetic fiber alternatives alongside traditional eiderdown and goose down products. The bath category has been updated to include terry cloth products manufactured with organic cotton certification standards.

Christian Fischbacher has implemented quality control measures that include individual product inspection and hand-packing procedures. The company offers bedding products as complete collections and individual pieces, including pillowcases, duvet covers, and fitted sheets. Bath products encompass terry cloth items, bath rugs, bathrobes, and kimonos.

The textile manufacturer has established a digital magazine platform that documents interior design applications and textile care information. This resource provides technical specifications and maintenance guidelines for the company's product range. The company also operates a concierge service that provides product selection assistance and technical consultations.

Production facilities in St. Gallen utilize both traditional textile manufacturing techniques and automated processes. The location, historically associated with Swiss textile production since the 15th century, houses the company's design, production, and distribution operations. The facility processes natural and synthetic fibers through weaving, dyeing, and finishing stages.

Founded in Switzerland, Christian Fischbacher Bed & Bath AG specializes in the design and manufacture of home textiles. The company produces bedding, bath products, and home accessories from its St. Gallen facilities, employing traditional Swiss textile manufacturing methods alongside modern production technologies. The company serves residential and commercial markets throughout Europe. The company maintains a physical presence at its St. Gallen headquarters, accessible via https://maps.app.goo.gl/359kkQe8R973qp4B7.
