October 07, 2025 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

RestoPros of New Orleans has obtained certification from the Institute of Inspection, Cleaning and Restoration Certification (IICRC), the global benchmark for the inspection, cleaning, restoration, and installation industries. This achievement demonstrates the company's commitment to maintaining the highest standards in damage restoration services for residential and commercial clients throughout the greater New Orleans area.

The IICRC certification validates that RestoPros of New Orleans meets rigorous industry standards for technical expertise, ethical business practices, and customer service excellence. The certification process requires extensive training, examination, and adherence to a comprehensive code of ethics that governs professional conduct in the restoration industry.

"Achieving IICRC certification represents our dedication to providing the highest quality restoration services to our community," said Philip Ehrhardt, spokesperson for RestoPros of New Orleans. "This certification ensures our technicians possess the knowledge and skills necessary to handle complex restoration challenges while following industry best practices. Our clients can have confidence that their properties are being restored by certified professionals who understand the science behind proper restoration techniques."

The certification enhances the company's ability to serve clients facing water damage, fire and smoke damage, mold remediation, and storm damage situations. IICRC-certified technicians receive specialized training in the latest restoration technologies, safety protocols, and mitigation strategies, enabling them to respond more effectively to emergency situations that require immediate professional intervention.

Damage Restoration requires both technical expertise and an understanding of the emotional impact property damage has on families and businesses. The IICRC certification program emphasizes not only technical proficiency but also professional communication and customer care standards that help restoration professionals guide clients through challenging recovery processes.

The certification aligns with RestoPros of New Orleans' existing commitment to 24/7 emergency response services and comprehensive restoration solutions. The company's team brings 30 years of combined industry experience to each project, whether addressing pipe bursts, fire damage, mold growth, or storm-related destruction. The addition of IICRC certification strengthens their capability to deliver thorough restoration services that meet or exceed industry standards.

For commercial and residential property owners in Arabi, Gretna, Kenner, Metairie, and New Orleans, the certification provides additional assurance that restoration work will be completed according to recognized industry protocols. IICRC standards cover everything from initial damage assessment through final restoration, ensuring consistent quality throughout the entire restoration process.
