Catonsville, Maryland company Ron's Amazing Products has recently updated their YouTube channel. They have added a number of new videos to update their viewers and subscribers about the latest spy gadgets and more that are available. More details are available on the channel at <http://www.youtube.com/user/RonsAmazingProducts>. Additionally, the company has upgraded their highly popular spy pen camera.

Ronald Hoff, founder and owner of Ron's Amazing Products, says: "We are always looking for ways to make our customers' experiences better, and the YouTube channel is proving to be a very popular method of achieving that. It is an opportunity for us to tell our customers more about our different products, in far greater detail, without bombarding them with too much. We're happy to see that people appreciate this."

The spy pen camera has proven to be incredibly popular. It is currently available through the Amazon marketplace at <http://www.amazon.com/gp/product/B00G2TEKM2>. It is also available at the Ron's Amazing

Products website. The pen that doubles as a spy camera continues to receive many positive reviews from those who have purchased them, and people also often make suggestions for improvement, which the company always tries to listen to. "This camera came charged and ready to use. It has a clear picture. There is a red light that shines while you're recording but it faces you so your subject does not see the light. Overall I was very impressed with this for the money. I would recommend this."

One of the new videos on YouTube is a troubleshooting guide for the spy pen camera. This was in response to a customer asking for a more in depth piece of information in order to properly use the camera itself. Other new videos include various user guides for the camera, such as how to charge it and how to transfer images and videos to a PC. They have also released a video with general tips on how to take the best possible photographs.

The company encourages everyone to bookmark their website at <http://ronsamazingproducts.com> so that they can remain up to date with new product developments, videos, industry news and other gadget information.
