Watertight Homes Expands Property Care Services Across Greater Manchester

November 17, 2025

Derbyshire, England - November 17, 2025 -
Watertight Homes Ltd has announced the expansion of its comprehensive property preservation services throughout Greater Manchester, addressing increased demand for specialist damp proofing and structural protection solutions across the region's 2.9 million residents.

The Leeds-based property care specialist, which has served Yorkshire and Manchester communities for over two decades, now provides enhanced coverage across all Greater Manchester boroughs including Bolton, Bury, Oldham, Rochdale, Salford, Stockport, Tameside, Trafford, and Wigan. The expansion responds to growing concerns about property deterioration in both residential and commercial buildings throughout the metropolitan county.

Established in 2000, Watertight - Property Care Greater Manchester offers specialized treatments for damp proofing, basement waterproofing, woodworm infestations, and timber preservation. The company maintains BBA accreditation and Triton approval status, with all services backed by comprehensive 10-year guarantees.

"Property owners across Greater Manchester face unique challenges from the region's climate and aging building stock," said Mathew Milner, Owner of Watertight Homes. "Our expanded presence ensures residents and businesses can access expert preservation services promptly, preventing minor issues from becoming major structural problems. We've seen particular demand for basement conversions and tanking services as property owners seek to maximize their living spaces while protecting against moisture damage."

The company's service portfolio encompasses nine core specializations, including dry rot and wet rot treatment, cavity wall tie replacement, condensation control, and basement conversions. Each service addresses specific preservation needs common to properties throughout the North West region, where moisture-related issues pose ongoing challenges to structural integrity.

Recent industry data indicates that untreated damp and timber decay can affect many properties across Greater Manchester, with older Victorian and Edwardian buildings particularly vulnerable to moisture ingress and woodworm infestations. The expansion enables faster response times for property assessments and treatments across the metropolitan area.

The company employs advanced diagnostic techniques to identify moisture sources and structural vulnerabilities before implementing targeted preservation strategies. Their basement waterproofing and tanking services have become increasingly sought after as homeowners convert cellars into functional living spaces, requiring specialist protection against water infiltration.

Watertight Homes maintains a five-star rating on Which? consumer platform, reflecting consistent service quality across residential and commercial projects. The company's preservation specialists undergo continuous training in the latest treatment methodologies and building regulations compliance.

Commercial clients benefit from tailored preservation programs designed to meet workplace safety standards and maintain building compliance certifications. The expanded Greater Manchester operations include dedicated teams for large-scale commercial projects, addressing the specific requirements of office buildings and industrial facilities.

Watertight Homes Ltd specializes in comprehensive property care and preservation services, operating from its Yorkshire headquarters while serving clients throughout Leeds, Manchester, and surrounding regions. The company combines traditional craftsmanship with modern preservation technologies to protect properties from damp, decay, and structural deterioration.
