March 07, 2016 -
Bren & Mike, a popular duo of super affiliate and internet marketing experts, have recently completed their Genius Marketing Pro review. They believed that the platform was worthy of a review, seeing it as a great marketing funnel platform. Furthermore, they highlighted the affiliate program that the system comes with, which is most interesting for those looking to make money online.

Mike Marko from Bren & Mike says: "We are always on the lookout for new marketing systems to help not just ourselves, but our clients as well. Genius Marketing Pro seemed to be gaining in popularity, so we felt we needed to take a closer look at it. However, we have also reviewed similar systems, which we also found to be very good."

In the review, Bren & Mike have compared Genius Marketing Pro with Influx Entrepreneur, which is a different, competing platform. They showed an honest evaluation of both platforms, giving readers the opportunity to make their own, educated decision about which one will work best for them. The Genius Marketing Pro review is aimed to empower for online entrepreneurs.

As online marketing and branding consultants, Bren & Mike excel at creating online traffic for their clients. They have mastered SEO, which is a significant element of their business. They have recently announced that they will also take on a few more consulting and traffic generating clients, but online limited spaces are available for them. Those who do manage to secure a spot will be provided with training and other information about how to create a profitable online business.

"We love imparting our knowledge on other people," says Bren. "However, we want to make sure that we can give our clients the best of our time, so we must limit the number of people that can take part in these sessions. Those who do get a space will also be given more details about the various platforms we have reviewed."

Bren & Mike, in their review, recommend mygeniuspro as a good system for online businesses and affiliate marketing. However, they have given a similar opinion about the Influx Entrepreneur system. Clients are encouraged to study both reviews to decide which one will work best for them.
